The Ohio Valley Trade and Labor assembly, composed of all the organized trades in this section, and the state farmers' alliance, are preparing to unite on an independent state ticket, and they may also have nominees in all the legislative districts.

REFORMERS' DAY.

The Session in St. Louis To-Day.

Representatives From All Parts of the Country

Who Have Grievances Against Something.

Only Preliminary Work Accomplished.

A Hard Battle Will Have to be Fought Before Any Conclusion Can be Reached on the Question of a Platform.

St. Louis, Feb. 22.—The year that marks the quadro-centennial of the intrepid voyagers upon the shores of an unknown land, and the day upon which all loyal Americans pay homage to that father of his country who was first in war, first in peace and first in the hearts of his countrymen, has been signalized by the greatest gathering of representatives of disaffected political elements that the world has ever seen.

The bewigged patriots who met in the Carpenters' hall of the Quaker City to bring into existence the new order of things were nominal in comparison.

The chartists that more than a century later gathered from the four quarters of the Fatherland to protest against the continuance of monarchical abuses; and their successors, under whose auspices the gates of Hyde Park were levelled to the ground, were but a forecast of latter day radicalism and new world advance in the social ethics of civilization.

In the throng that faced the platform in the exposition hall this morning there were men and women who have made their impress upon the social progress of the age.

Frances Willard was there as the representative of the opposition to the rum power and the saloon.

The veteran A. T. Streeter sat as the champion of the anti-monopolists, and Representative Taubeneck, of Illinois, and Robert Schilling, of Wisconsin, in behalf of the people's party, and Master Workman Powderly with Secretary Hayes and Congressman Davis occupied front seats as the delegates from the Knights of Labor.

W. A. Carsey, of the New York city Anti-Monopoly league, sat side by side with Judge Snyder of Kansas.

In other of the front seats were Post, of Georgia; Washburn, of Massachusetts; Gen. John B. Weaver, of Iowa; L. L. Polk, North Carolina; Congressman Livingston and C. A. Rankin and Ignatius Donnelly, the sage of Minnesota.

Back of these were the rank and file of the various delegations, the credentials of which represented nearly every state and territory of the union.

Whether or not the discordants could effect a coalition upon grounds that would be satisfactory to all concerned was the question that engrossed the consideration of the leading spirits of all the movements yesterday afternoon and last night.

As an outcome the draft of a platform was prepared which deals only with the questions of land, finance, and transportation, and leaves all other questions severely alone.

This program is not agreeable to certain elements of the delegations and as a result the entire platform will be fought out on the floor of the convention.

The gathering was called to order at 2 p. m. by Ben Terrell, of Texas.

An address of welcome was delivered by C. P. Walbridge, of St. Louis, and responses made by L. L. Polk, on behalf of the Farmers' alliance and Industrial union, and by T. V. Powderly in the name of the Knights of Labor, and also by Ignatius Donnelly.

The appointment of committees occupied the most of the day. The convention will not get down to the real business before it until to-morrow afternoon.

How to reconcile the divergent elements was one of the problems that early confronted the leaders, and to consider it a seven hours' conference was held with closed doors in one of the parlors of the Richelieu.

Those participating were: Ignatius Donnelly, representing the Northwestern alliance; Washburne and Taubeneck, of the National Citizens' alliance; L. L. Polk and Gen. J. B. Weaver, Farmers' alliance; Robert Schilling and C. A. Rankin, members of the Knights of Labor.

At the outset it was announced that the people's party, as an organization, would not be officially represented in the convention, although all of its officers and most of the members of its executive committee would have seats upon the floor as delegates from other organizations.

If the platform adopted proved to be in consonance with its declaration of principles then it would coalesce with the movement. Otherwise it would go it alone, and in compliance with the powers vested in it by the Cincinnati convention, call a national convention of its own and place a ticket in the field.

There was a concensus of opinion to the effect that the people's party would get all that it wanted, if not more. As the interchange of opinion proceeded it was developed that a majority of those present were in favor of confining the platform to three points—land, transportation and money.

On the first question it was agreed that the declaration should be in favor of the adoption of laws prohibiting alien ownership, the purchase or confiscation by the national government of all lands held by alien and foreign syndicates and the reclamation by the government for ultimate distribution among actual settlers of all lands held by railroads and other corporations in excess of what may be in actual use.

There was a unanimity in sentiment in favor of free and unlimited coinage of silver, and then the issue between the subtreasury advocates and their opponents was forced to the front.

Both sides had their say, and finally after a debate, at times exciting and acrimonious, a resolution was agreed to declaring in favor of a government issue of treasury notes of sufficient volume to properly transact the business of the country; such issue to be distributed to the people in limited amounts upon land or other approved securities, to quote the resolution: "A tax not to exceed the natural increase of wealth."

Some of the participants in the conference, while confessing that they might not be as brainy as some other men, declared that the "natural increase" in question was a trifle ambiguous and gave notice of their intention of submitting a specific rate of interest of 2 or 3 per cent. With this reservation the proposition went through.

Whether the program as outlined will meet the views of the majority of the delegates is, however, an open question. The prohibitionist element, for one, is anything but satisfied. The national prohibition party has already called a national convention to meet in this city on June 29, for the purpose of placing a presidential ticket in the field, but it is an open secret that it would be willing to forego that intention and go in with the new movement if adhesion were given to its platform.

A few weeks ago there was a conference in Chicago between representatives of the people's party, the prohibitionists and other elements, at which a platform was adopted embracing the demands of the former on the question of money, transportation, and land, but declaring for municipal suffrage for women and the suppression of the saloon.

This was signed by, among others, Frances Willard, Ignatius Donnelly, and Gen. Weaver. The two latter were invited to the caucus to-day, the former was not. Donnelly and Weaver, realizing that they were in something of a hole, wanted a definite declaration on the liquor question.

This was opposed by Taubeneck, of Illinois, and Washburne, of Massachusetts.

They argued that the delegates represented organizations interested only in economic and financial questions, that the prohibitionists had but one aim, the abolition of the rum traffic, and that, as this was a question upon which it would be impossible to get an agreement of opinion, it should not be introduced as a discordant element.

It was suggested by one of the delegates that the rum traffic was the source of all the poverty of the country, and that were it suppressed the economic and financial conditions would right themselves.

To this a Kansas man replied that in his district every man and woman was a prohibitionist, and yet the same district was the most poverty-stricken in the entire state.

Finally, the anti-prohibitionists, led by Taubeneck and Washburn, agreed that the question should be left to the judgment of the convention. A compromise resolution will be submitted declaring in favor of the nationalization of the liquor traffic, or the placing of its sole control in the jurisdiction of the federal government. This will be acceptable to the personal liberty element, and is not particularly offensive to the majority of the prohibition representatives.

The transportation plank demands the most rigid, honest, and just national control and supervision of the means of public communication and transportation, and the government ownership of such means of communication and transportation, should adequate control and supervision fail to remove the alleged abuses.

The position of the knights in the conference is for the time being problematical, although they were unofficially represented in the conference this afternoon.

General Master Workman Powderly expressed himself as in favor of adopting a platform and then submitting it to the national conventions of the two leading parties before taking definite action in the direction of placing candidates in the field.

This is in line with the views expressed at the Cincinnati convention at which the people's party was brought into existence. At the same time he said he did not believe that either the republican or democratic conventions would be likely to fall into line with the industrial, mechanical and agricultural elements, although it would be nothing but right to give them a chance. "If my vote went for anything," he said, "it would be in favor of wiping the old parties out."

This is the first convention of the kind in which the Knight of Labor have officially participated, the recent general assembly at Toledo having instructed the general officers to attend as delegates.

Should they approve of the platform their action will, to a large extent, bind the membership of the organization in every state to the industrial ticket.

The California delegation adopted a resolution which will create somewhat of a sensation in political circles. Following is the text of the resolution:

Whereas There are certain parties in the city of St. Louis booming Leland Stanford for the presidency of the United States, and

Whereas, The delegation from the state of California representing the farmers' alliance, the citizens' alliance, Knights of Labor, Reform Press association, and the people's party emphatically declare that the people of California are not looking for a Caesar, a Cromwell, a railroad monopolist, or millionaire, but rather for a Cincinnatus, and when he is found we will know him by the character he bears and the work he has done.

(Signed.)
Marion Cannon, F. A. & I. U.
J. F. Barton, People's Party.
J. A. Johnston, R. P. A.
J. L. Gilbert, Citizens' Alliance.
Jesse Poundstone, Executive Com.

The morning trains brought in large numbers of delegates from the south and southwest, although the total fell considerably below what had been expected by the promoters of the gathering.

All of the new arrivals expressed themselves as favorable toward the program for an early nominating convention. The platform to be submitted to the gathering will follow very closely the lines adopted by the Ocala gathering.

NIPPED JUST IN TIME.

Dangerous Lot of Counterfeiters Arrested.

They Were Preparing to Flood the Country.

A Cartload of Bogus Bills, Together With Plates and Other Evidence, Captured by the Cincinnati Police.

Cincinnati, Feb. 22.—The greatest haul of counterfeiters, including the capture of plates and printed bills ever made here, was accomplished Saturday by government detectives.

The whole gang is in jail. They are Ralph Wilson, a steam engineer; W. G. Hera, a Fourth street photographer, and W. L. Brown, an engraver.

Detectives have been working the case since December 26. They captured a dozen photo-engraved plates of the Grant series of the $5 certificates and found a cartload of dangerous printed bills.

They also captured in process of preparation a $10 silver certificate plate of the Hendricks series of '86. Besides these they found glass etchings for both counterfeits in course of preparation. Bob Fleming, whom John Wilson had solicited to shove the goods, informed the detectives and insisted upon the working up of the case.

Printing presses had been ordered at Kennedy & Mason's, No. 90 Broadway, and everything was in readiness to shower the city with the bogus money.

W. G. Hera, the photographer, is supposed to have taken the photographs from which the engravings were taken. They are all in jail and their trials will be held this week.

Brown was captured by a decoy letter written by Secret Service Officer Bauer. He was caught by Detectives Williams and Webb at the postoffice when he called for the letter. The plates were made by the photographic process and are very fine. The officers say that no one but an expert can detect the difference between the counterfeits and the genuine.

A $5 plate of the Grant series of 1886 was completed and some bills were printed. Twelve of these plates were captured. A photograph of the $10 certificate of the series of 1888 was taken, but no plates were discovered. A glass etching was found in a state of preparation. No bills had been printed so far as known.

Wishon is supposed to be the leader of the gang. Hera, when arrested, attempted to draw a revolver, but was speedily disarmed.

The plates were found in Hera's house in Newport, Ky. His room was literally packed with $5 counterfeit bills.

Sensational Story From the Ohio Capital.

Cleveland and Grey the Ticket Fixed Up.

The Ex-President Reported to be Ready to Do Battle Without New York State—A Story That Needs Confirmation.

New York, Feb. 22.—A special from Columbus, O., to the Herald, says: At the conference in Ann Arbor to-day Mr. Cleveland will announce his candidacy and say that on only one issue should the campaign be made—the tariff.

He will also say that on that issue he can be elected without the vote of New York, as he can carry Illinois, Michigan, Iowa, Wisconsin, Montana, Oregon, California, as well as Indiana, New Jersey, Connecticut, Massachusetts and New Hampshire.

The program of Cleveland and Campbell is to make the fight without regard to New York, to make it on the tariff and carry the states above with the solid south.

It is in the program for ex-Gov. Gray to be the candidate for vice president, who, with Campbell and others, will stump the northwest.

Mr. Cleveland will look after the New England states. This is the plan mapped out and will be announced from the Ann Arbor caucus to-day.

SHE WANTED TO DIE.

Desperate Attempt of a Woman to Commit Suicide.

Newburg, N. Y., Feb. 22.—It has just been discovered that Mrs. Rachel Queripel, a wealthy widow of this place, has attempted suicide twice within the past few days, first taking poison, which acted as an emetic, and later cutting her body and limbs with a razor, while yet very weak from the first attempt.

In the latter case a physician was called and succeeded in stopping the flow of blood and saving the life of the woman.

She is said to be suffering from aberration of mind. Mrs. Queripel is an aunt of Gen. James Husted, of Peekskill.

While Miss McHenry, a Lansing school ma'am, was applying the birch to Guy Cotlington, the lad whipped out a revolver and held the teacher up. The boys were all searched and 13 "shooting-irons" were confiscated.

SOLID FOR D.B.HILL

New York Democrats in Delegate Convention

Stand by the Man Who Scored Success.

The Anti-Hill Protest Turned Down in Committee

And the Kickers Not Admitted to the Hall.

A Rousing Convention in the Empire State To-Day—Action Taken That May Make or Break the Democratic Party.

Albany, Feb.22.—The democratic hosts have been praying fora bright clear day for the state convention. They have not got that but they have got a day which promises to be free from rain and they must be content with the compromise.

The town woke up at 7 o'clock this morning when the Elmira delegation, 350 strong, arrived. They came in silk hats and frock coats with big blue silk badges of the David B. Hill club pinned to their vests.

They mourned the absence of their brass band which had missed connection at the starting point, but when they saw the slush and water with which the streets of Albany are covered, their disappointment at not being able to parade was sensibly lessened.

One hundred Binghamton democrats came with the Elmira delegation. Erie county brought in 700 and Troy 500 more about 9 o'clock.

At that time the Tammany delegation had turned out in force and the streets and the hotel lobbies were quite as busy as they were last night. Senator Hill was an early riser. He went to bed long after midnight, but at half past seven o'clock he was up and half an hour later breakfast was served to him in his private apartments.

The Cleveland Men.

The headquarters of the committee of fifty (the protesting delegation) at the Hotel Kenmore presented a scene of activity this morning. E. Ellery Anderson was on hand early and welcomed all who came. The friends of the opposition were invited into a side room, where wine and cigars were plenty.

Mr. Anderson said that the preliminary plans of the committee were completed. It was proposed to present a protest to the state committee. The convention of the opposition to the early convention, he said, would be called to order promptly at 2 o'clock by Franklin D. Locke, of Buffalo.

The state committee met at 9:30 o'clock, all of the members but Croker and Grant being present. Contests were noted in three districts, but the names already on the roll were allowed to remain there.

When this business was disposed of the New York delegation to protest against the early convention were admitted.

After the reading of the protest Mr. Bourk Cockran asked Mr. E. Ellery Anderson if it was not true that the protest was prepared before the convention had been called or the date set. Mr. Anderson said the committee met on the Saturday night prior to the meeting of the state committee, and that there was a rumor at that time that the convention was to be held early.

Thomas F. Grady said he believed that the committee had decided to protest against the convention as too early or as too late, and also believed that the committee was simply opposed to candidates and not alone to the date of the convention, and that the movement was simply antagonistic and nothing else.

Mr. Cockran moved that the question referred to by the committee, together with the papers, be laid on the table. The motion was unanimously adopted, and the protesting delegation withdrew.

The committee then decided upon officers of the convention, and George M. Beebe was selected as temporary chairman, and Gen. Daniel E. Sickles as permanent chairman.

The committee then adjourned.

Tammany Hall.

Tammany hall's delegation met at 10:30 o'clock and organized. The credentials of all delegates were verified and electors at large and delegates to the national convention were selected.

At 11 o'clock the crowd began to drift in the direction of the convention hall on Washington avenue.

There was a big crowd around the entrance to the hall half an hour before the time fixed for the convention to assemble. Very few of those who blocked the sidewalk had tickets to the hall and waited outside in the vain hope of slipping in at sometime unobserved.

They made it almost impossible for the police to keep a passage-way clear and the delegates had to fight their way to the entrance.

The stage of the convention hall was set with a woodland scene. The proscenium arch and the boxes were draped in the national colors. This was the only attempt at decoration.

At noon the galleries were well filled but the body of the hall was comparatively empty. The delegates came in one by one, red-faced and angry, after the struggle with the crowd outside. Some of them got to the stage through the cellar. The delay in assembling caused a delay in calling the meeting to order.

As the democratic leaders entered they were greeted with applause.

At 12:15 the band in the gallery struck up and the delegates began to move at a livelier pace down the aisles. The hall filled up rapidly.

Called to Order.

At 12:21 Chairman Murphy of the state committee called the convention to order and announced its purpose. He presented the names of temporary officers which were received with applause.

Chairman Beebee.

Mr. Beebee, the temporary chairman, was escorted to the chair.

Mr. Beebe thanked the convention for the honor conferred upon him and said that, gazing upon the magnificent assemblage before him, he felt that it was a sure augury of the overwhelming and decisive triumph of the party in November next.

He congratulated the convention upon the fact that the state government in all its branches was in the hands of the democratic party, a victory gained through the vigilance, wisdom, courage and untiring energy of that fearless leader under whom the democracy had never known disaster, dishonor or defeat—David B. Hill. (Uproarious applause).

The lesson of four years ago ought to impress democrats throughout the union with an appreciation of the importance of early and thorough organization. For our success we have to look to and depend upon appeals to the deliberate judgment and patriotic impulses of our fellow citizens, rather than to the peculiar argument of the republican party.

Given a Wanamaker, with all that that implies, a Dudley and his "blocks of five," and you have the proselyting machinery of modern republicanism in full working order.

The issues upon which the battle is to be fought are sharply defined and need but to be clearly understood to insure decisive victory to our cause.

We demand home rule and the decentralization of political power, taxation for only the necessary purposes of a government economically administered; a revenue tariff which, while it leaves the necessities of the poor untaxed, shall be so adjusted as to aid the wage earner; honest money, and above all, we demand the supremacy of the ballot over the bayonet and the freedom of its exercise, untrammeled by power and uninfluenced by corruption.

We denounce centralism, oligarchy, profligacy, favoritism and fraud, and we demand the repeal of those federal laws under and by which the people have been robbed to enrich the plutocrat contributors to republican campaign corruption funds.

Mr. Beebe compared the economy of the democratic administration of the state with the prodigacy of the billion-dollar congress and said it was no wonder the people rebuked the latter at the last election.

The triumphant democracy of the Empire state, realizing that organization and united action have enabled it to win substantial victories and achieve glorious results in state and local fields, are here to-day, by their accredited representatives, to affirm their devotion to democratic principles, and to declare their confidence and faith in, and their preference for a leader, while following whom we have never heard the signal of retreat sounded, nor tasted the bitterness of defeat—a leader who, courageous, earnest and sincere in every political contest, fights to win, because he believes victory to his party means the triumph of the people's cause—a leader who strikes unsparing blows, because he believes favor to the foe is treason to his country—a leader who never speaks to deceive nor listens to betray.

We have no word to utter in disparagement of any one of the other statesmen whose names have been mentiond for national leaders. Each one has, and deserves to have, our honor and esteem, but if the convention which is to meet at Chicago next June shall be animated by the purpose which inspires this convention, and would make the assurances of victory doubly sure, it will be, as this convention is, unanimous for the nomination of that democrat who is most dear to us because he is most dangerous to our foes, David B. Hill.

In favoring his nomination one purpose animates, one aim inspires us. It is to make sure the victory of our party next November and thus insure the triumph of these principles upon which, alone, popular government can be perpetuated and the continued prosperity of our country be secured.

"Long may its wealth and power increase,
Long may its children dwell in peace;
On it the Almighty's glory rest,
And all the world in it be blest."

Judge Beebee's remarks were greeted with loud applause at different points until he reached his first allusion to Senator Hill. Then the convention interrupted the speech for nearly a minute while it cheered again and again for New York's democratic senator.

Judge Beebee concluded his speech at 12:40.

Gen. Sickles.

When the organization was made permanent, Gen. Dan E. Sickles took the gavel and addressed the convention.

Gen. Sickles thanked the convention for the honor conferred in choosing him to preside over its deliberations, and said:

"The democracy of New York and of the nation approach the presidential campaign of 1892 with a deep sense of the responsibility imposed upon us by the signal victories of '90 and '91.

"We cannot fail to see the manifest purpose of the people of this country to dismiss the republican party from any further control of the federal government.

"The policy of our adversaries having found its disastrous culmination in the McKinley tariff and in the force bill and in the unmeasured extravagance of the last republican congress, they will appeal in vain for the support of an indignant constituency."

Gen. Sickles referred to the recent overwhelming democratic victory in New York state and continued:

"Under these good auspices we initiate the national canvass of '92 on the anniversary of the birthday of Washington, persuaded that the democratic party deserves success, and confident that we shall triumph.

"We shall fight the great battle on the issues of '90 and '91, which demanded for the people an open market for the necessaries of life, in which the commerce pays no tribute or tax to any privileged class or monopoly; free elections in which the rights of the states shall not be invaded by federal agents or federal forces; sound currency, based on gold and silver coin; and an economical administration, in which the expenditure of public money is confined to the legitimate purposes of the general government, as defined by the constitution.

"The state of New York has often had the good fortune to be honored by the choice of one of its citizens as the champion of the national democracy. If we shall again be invited by our comrades in other states to present a candidate for the chief magistracy of the nation, we are prepared to ask their suffrages for a statesman whose record already places him in the group made illustrious by the names of Van Buren, Wright, Marcy, Seymour and Tilden.

"We shall present the name of the gallant leader whose banner is inscribed with many victories, and under whom the democracy of New York never has been, and never will be, defeated; a leader who was elected to the senate of the Unitd States without the expenditure of a dollar; a leader we love because the enemies of the democratic party hate and fear him; a leader in whom the veteran soldiers of New York have always found a steadfast friend; a leader whose success is always the triumph of his party; a leader whose election to the presidency of the United States would give to the whole people an administration guided and directed in all of its measures by the principles, the policy and the traditions of Jefferson and Jackson."

The name of Wm. F. Sheehan, the lieutenant governor, was greeted with loud applause. The audience also cheered the names of Hugh McLaughlin, George B. McClellan, Gen. D. E. Sickles, B. F. Martin, W. Bourke Cockran, Richard Croker and Frank Rice. Mr. Croker's name aroused particular enthusiasm.

Resolutions were introduced providing for the selection of one delegate from each congressional district to report to the convention four delegates-at-large and two delegates from each congressional district, together with alternates, to attend the Chicago convention, and two presidential electors from the state and one regular elector from each district.

A resolution was adopted continuing the state committee in existence until the next convention. The roll of districts was then called for the appointment of members of the various committees.

During the calling of the roll George H. Weed, from the Twenty-first district, objected to the list sent up from his district on the ground that the list sent in was not chosen at a meeting of the majority of the delegation. Mr. Weed said that he had asked for a meeting of the delegation, and had been refused. The chairman said he was informed that the delegation was divided. The names of six of the twelve members only were signed to the list sent in. The matter would, therefore, be referred to the committee.

Mr. Weed objected to this and Col. J. R. Fellows made the point of order that the matter should go to the committee. Mr. Sheehan said that the 12 delegates ought to get together now and see if they could agree. If not the matter should go to the convention. There was a brief intermission while the clerk was making up the committee lists. Mr. Weed again took the floor and announced that the delegates from the Twenty-first were unable to agree. The matter was referred to the committee. The clerk then read the committee lists and the convention took a recess to 3:30 p. m.

An Old Resident, Passed Away Saturday.

Isaac D. Paulding died in this city Saturday at the age of 82 years. He was born at Tarrytown, N. Y., in 1810, and was a son of John Paulding of Revolutionary fame, one of the principal actors in the Major Andre incident. The deceased had long been a resident of Toledo. He leaves two children, Chas. Paulding and Mrs. Hattie Evans, both of this city. The funeral occurred this morning, the remains being taken to Arian, Mich., for interment.

ANNUAL ENTERTAINMENT

Of the National Union at Wheeler's This Evening.

This evening the National Union gives its annual entertainment at Wheeler's. It promises to be a grand success. Among those who will participate are Miss Elizabeth Doolittle, Miss Carrie Berry Phelps, W. A. Cramer, Senator L. K. Parks, Judge R. H. Cochran and Miss Carrie L. Whiting. There will also be singing by the Whiting quartet and other music. The National Union entertainments have heretofore been of a most enjoyable nature, and this evening's performance will be no exception.

LAST CALL.

The Curtain Will Soon Go Up on the Comedy School.

The final rehearsal for the comedy school will be held Wednesday evening. The performance comes off Friday evening at Wheeler's. Twenty of Toledo's amateurs will participate, and it will be an excellent performance. All members of the cast have been working hard, and some new stars in the local theatrical firmament are sure to burst forth on this occasion. The play is to be given under the auspices of the King's Daughters for the benefit of the Day Nursery.

OFF FOR ANN ARBOR

To Greet Ex-President Cleveland—A Big Time Ahead.

A goodly number of Toledoans left this morning to attend the reception to ex-President Cleveland, which occurs at Ann Arbor this afternoon and evening. Mr. Harry Ashley went along in his private car, and was accompanied by Hon. Frank Hurd, Judges Lemmon and Harmon, Harvey Scribner and others.

Mr. Cleveland delivers his address this afternoon at 3 o'clock, and will leave for Detroit at 9 to-night, after the reception. Some of the Toledo people will go to Detroit, and the rest will return to-night.

AN OLD CHARGE

Lands Charles Seefurth Behind the Bars.

A man named Charles Seefurth was arrested Saturday by Detectives Manley and Carew for an assault which he committed in May, 1890. On the 5th of that month Martin Fisher, living on the corner of Newton and Oliver streets, found Seefurth in the house with his wife, and at once ejected him. On the outside, however, Seefurth picked up a brick, and throwing it at Fisher inflicted a dangerous wound on the left temple. He had avoided the police until last week, and now he will be tried on a charge of assault with intent to kill.

JOAN OF ARC

Card Party—Meeting Night Changed For a Few Months.

The ladies of Joan of Arc assembly, 10062, entertained their friends at a progressive euchre party at Clark's hall on Saturday evening. The occasion was a very enjoyable one. All the meetings of the assembly, business and social, will be held on Saturday, instead of Friday, for the next two months, on account of many members wishing to attend Prof. Demmon's lectures in the University extension course. The next meeting of the assembly will be for regular business, and will be held Saturday evening, March 5.

JOINT SESSION

Of the Council Boards To-Night—Alderman Business.

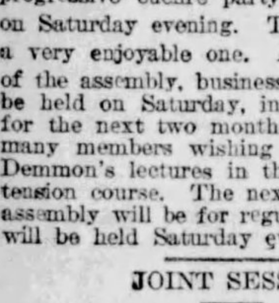
A joint session of the boards of councilmen and aldermen will be held this evening, and another effort will be made to have them act on the appointment of Reynold Voit as gas trustee. One of the constableships has also been vacant for some time and this dilatory action of the council in the matter of gas trustee has also left out the constable.

After the joint session the board of aldermen will meet and transact the regular business. The schedule is rather long but there is little of special importance. The general street railway ordinance will come up on its third reading.

U. C. T.

Preparations Going On for the Coming Convention.

The annual meeting of the Grand Council of the United Commercial Travelers will be held in Toledo in May. This promises to be one of the gayest events of the summer season. For two days the city will be turned over to the genial Knights of the Grip, of whom there will be several thousand present from all parts of the country. The boys are working like beavers, and it goes without saying that success will be theirs. Already most of the important branches of the state have signified their intention of attending and have made arrangements for headquarters in the city. Springfield and Mansfield will be found at the Hamilton; Dayton at the Jefferson, and Cincinnati at the Boody. Toledo's reputation as a host on such occasions as this is well known, and none will be received with greater welcome than the traveling men.



It isn't done by others—that's why the guarantee of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription should command attention. It's a guarantee that means something. If the medicine doesn't give satisfaction, in every case for which it's recommended, the money is promptly refunded. Remarkable terms—but it's a remarkable medicine. All the functional irregularities and weaknesses peculiar to womankind are cured by it. For leucorrhea, periodical pains, weak back, prolapsus and other displacements, bearing-down sensations, and all "female complaints," it's an unfailing remedy. It is a powerful, restorative tonic and nervine, imparting strength and vigor to the whole system.

As a regulator and promoter of functional action, at that critical period of change from girlhood to womanhood, "Favorite Prescription" is a perfectly safe remedial agent, and can produce only good results.

Try it, if you're an ailing woman. You pay only for the good you get. Can you ask more?

C., J. & M. MATTERS.

A Final Meeting Will Be Held To-morrow.

The Cincinnati, Jackson & Mackinaw railroad matters are still in statu quo. The officials say, however, that to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock a meeting will be held at which matters will be finally arranged. It is likely that after the reorganization the road will be leased to the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton.

AGAINST THE CITY.

A Defective Approach to a Railroad Track the Basis for a Law Suit.

In common pleas court to-day Otto Wegner filed suit against the Toledo Belt railway company and the city of Toledo, to recover $6,500 damages for personal injury. The plaintiff alleged that he was injured on the 27th of January, 1892, while crossing the Belt tracks on Starr avenue, on account of defective approaches to the track.

ANOTHER RAILROAD SUIT.

An Employe Wants Damages for the Loss of a Hand.

John Gasdaski began suit in common pleas court to-day against the Lake Shore railway company to recover $5,000 for personal injury. The plaintiff alleges that he was employed by the company as track layer, and by the order of the defendants attempted to make a coupling and lost a hand in the operation.

HIDING FROM GOD.

Preacher Jones Talks at the Bartlett Street Disciple Church.

Rev. Frank Jones, who is conducting revival services at the Bartlett Street Church of Christ, last night preached a very able sermon, taking his text from a part of the eighth verse of the third chapter of Genesis: "And Adam and his wife hid themselves from the presence of the Lord God, amongst the trees of the garden." Some of the trees behind which men are hiding from God, are the trees of fatalism, agnosticism, "indifferentism," the musty doctrine of election, and morality. Mr. Jones does not believe, as do many, that a moral man's influence is for evil, but there can be no saving power in self-righteousness. The only safe hiding place is in the shadow of God's wing.

The meetings are well attended and great interest is shown. They will continue all week. Wednesday afternoon the ladies' aid society will serve lunch in the church parlors. Some persons seem to have confounded this church with a sect where the washing of feet is a part of the service, and Rev. Jones took occasion to state that the members of this church do their feet-washing at home.

THAT ASYLUM TRUSTEESHIP.

The Senate and Governor's Action Turning Down Bill Geyser.

There has been considerable comment in this section over the refusal of the senate to confirm ex-Senator Geyser as a trustee of the Toledo asylum. Comment of several newspapers has been previously given in the Bee, but here are a couple more:

The refusal of the Ohio legislature to confirm the appointment of Mr. William Geyser of Swanton as member of the board of asylum trustees was a contemptible piece of business. Mr. Geyser's honorable record as citizen, business man and resident of Northwestern Ohio, should have been sufficient guarantee that he would discharge the duties of office faithfully.—Maumee New Era.

Gov. McKinley's act in refusing to appoint ex-Senator Geyser, as one of the members of the board of trustees of the asylum at Toledo, is one that will make him many enemies in this county and especially in the republican party. Mr. Geyser is one of the leading republicans of Fulton; was a worthy man for the place, and should have been given the appointment. The ex-senator supported Foraker during the recent senatorial fight, and this is the main reason of the governor in refusing to appoint him. It is the rule of the senate to confirm an ex-senator who is nominated by the governor for an honored position. Gov. Campbell nominated Mr. Geyser as a member of the board, but declining to follow the rule of his predecessors, Gov. McKinley refused to appoint him, and the senate pigeon-holed his name.—Wauseon Expositor.

POLITICAL EQUALITY CLUB.

Drills on Parliamentary Tactics Proving Very Interesting.

A large number of ladies assembled in the parlors of Mrs. R. L. Segur, 916 Broadway, Saturday afternoon, the occasion being the fortnightly meeting of the Political Equality club. President Murphy presided, and after reading a chapter from Fiske's Civil Governments, reported on the work of the president and cabinet, congress, the state legislature, and on foreign affairs.

The parliamentary drill was then conducted by Mrs. Bentley, Mrs. Frey, Mrs. Lang, Mrs. Murphy, Mrs. Quigley, Mrs. Dutton and Miss Calkins. The drill was the third, and best which has been given by the club on dependent motions. These drills are very instructive as well as amusing, and the resolution offered, Resolved, "That women endorse a woman for street commissioner," called forth a storm of applause.

The discussion which followed was a lively one and participated in by nearly every woman present. When this "burning question of the day" had been disposed of by a motion to adjourn, the committee on reports were appointed as follows: President and cabinet, Miss Milan; congress, Mrs. Eisenhart; legislature, Mrs. Foley; foreign affairs, Mrs. Dutton.

The next parliamentary drill will be on committees and their reports, and Mrs. Quigley, Mrs. Bentley, Mrs. Moore and Miss Calkins were appointed to prepare a program for this drill.

After a short address by the president on the work of the club, the meeting closed in due form.

The next meeting will be held Saturday afternoon, March 5, with Mrs. Reinhart, 826 Locust street.

ABOUT GAS TERRITORY.

Pumps Are Not Good—The City Ought to Purchase Good Land.

To the Editor: In regard to Mr. Parsen's idea of pumping gas to Toledo, he claims he can furnish about twice the amount now furnished and give better satisfaction by the pumping process. Now then his proposition to purchase a pump to pump gas to Toledo at a cost of $30,000 again shows up another mistake the gas trustees will make and shows their utter inability to handle this gas business. In the first place, if the gas trustees would post themselves they would find the gas pumping process was a failure in the Pennsylvania fields, where there was no salt water to contend with. Now if it was a failure there, what would it be here where over one-half of the wells owned by the city have salt water or oil in them? And again, it is a fact that oil and gas will exhaust gas more than oil where it is drawn at a long distance. All experienced oil and gas men know it is only a matter of time until all pools of oil and gas will play out, and the Ohio field shows more plainly than ever that it will become exhausted. For instance, the old Karg well in Findlay, that was the world's wonder, made the little town of Fidlay in a very short time spring from a slow country town to a thriving city. Now what is the once famous gas well doing? It has not produced gas for over two years; all it will produce is salt water. Again, look at the Stuartsville and Van Buren fields, where the Northwestern Gas company obtained all its supply to furnish the city of Toledo; neither at the present time nor at any time this winter has the Northwestern company taken gas from any of the wells in Van Buren or Stuartsville to furnish Toledo, and the reason is simply this: When they first commenced taking gas from those fields the rock pressure was 400 pounds and the wells showed from five to fifteen million feet, and now the rock pressure is only 120 pounds and the capacity of the wells is only about one and one-half million feet. And this is just where the gas trustees are drilling and trying to produce gas from—practically speaking—trying to get gas where it was not; and this is what the investigating committee has discovered. And where Findlay got her best supply from at one time they will find those same wells are now producing salt water, and they will find a well there that the city of Findlay is experimenting with. They have been pumping it for the last three months to see if they can't exhaust the salt water, and they have not exhausted the water yet.

Now in the face of all these facts what in the name of common sense is the use of the city of Toledo putting in a $30,000 gas pump and wasting that amount of money for experience? They ought to buy new and fresh wells, where there is rock pressure; where they can purchase gas where they can get some results and abandon the idea of wasting more money to get gas in a field where more experienced men have left.

We are informed and we think the information is correct that the gas trustees can purchase 20,000,000 feet of gas with a rock pressure of about 200 pounds for less than $30,000!

Now, the question is this, which is the most profitable for the city to give $30,000 for the real stuff where they will get some benefit or $30,000 for imaginary benefits and experience and finish up with nothing left only salt water, oil and experience?

In a conversation with Mr. Taylor, an old and experienced oil and gas man, and he is one of the gas trustees of the city of Findlay at the present time, he says from his experience with oil and gas pumps that if they are put in use or connected with oil or gas wells in the Ohio field that they will exhaust and totally dstroye all the wells which they will be connected with in less than sixty days, the suction is so great on the rock pressure that salt water is sure to follow. ONE WHO KNOWS.

IN THE GREAT WEST.

Grover Cleveland Received With Much Enthusiasm

In Michigan's Proud University City.

Thousands Turn Out to See the Man Who, Just Now, is Before the Democrats of the Whole Country.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 22.—Ex-President Cleveland was up and stirring at an early hour this morning, and at 10 o'clock, accompanied by ex-Postmaster-General Dickinson, ex-Minister to The Hague John G. Parkhurst, ex-Minister to Russia George V. N. Lothrop, and a select body of Michigan's leading democrats as an escort, he took a special train to Ann Arbor, where he is to deliver the oration to the law students this afternoon.

IN ANN ARBOR.

Cleveland Does Not Mix Politics with Pleasure.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 22.—Mr. Cleveland arrived here shortly before noon today. On the trip from Detroit the ex-president made himself acquainted with the noteworthy Michigan democrats who accompanied him, and while courteous, was firm in his refusal to be interviewed.

He was approached by a correspondent on the subject of the political outlook in the South, but parried the question by the remark that he did not mix politics with pleasure.

He reiterated his belief that the tariff would be the issue upon which the democracy would go before the people this year. To the question, "What about Hill?" he gave no reply, and to a similar question relative to Gen. Alger he replied that he did not believe he was called upon at this time to pass judgment upon any man.

A short stop was made at Ypsilanti where Mr. Cleveland said a few words to the crowd that greeted him at the station.

At Ann Arbor when the train arrived several thousand people were about the station, including 2,500 students who raised their characteristic yell when Mr. Cleveland, accompanied by Mr. Dickinson, Richard Watson Gilder, of the Century magazine, Wilson S. Bissell, of Buffalo, and the Detroit escort, passed to the platform.

It was several minutes before Mr. Cleveland's "I thank you" could be heard.

Mayor Doty representing the corporation of Ann Arbor, then made a brief address to the ex-president, welcoming him to Michigan's university city, and tendering him the freedom of the city, at the same time presenting a silver plate upon which the resolutions of welcome adopted by the local council were engraved.

The whole party took carriages for the center of the city, and pandemonium seemed let loose during the mile of the journed thereto. The mud was a foot deep in the streets, but the 10,000 people who followed the line of carriages trudged along without being seemingly inconvenienced.

The deeper the mud the louder the students yelled for Mr. Cleveland, and his Ann Arbor reception consitutes undoubtedly the noisiest for the number of its participants, to which Mr. Cleveland has been treated.

A carriage drive about the university campus, giving an opportunity to view the schools of arts, law, medicine, mechanical engineering, dental college and library followed, after which the ex-president and his company were entertained at luncheon by Prof. Thompson.

Ex-Gov. Campbell, of Ohio, arrived in Ann Arbor this morning and joined Mr. Cleveland's party here.

THE STORM STILL RAGING.

Awful Gales Along the Irish Coast.

Many Vessels Driven on the Rocks and Their Crews Saved by the Coast Guards.

London, Feb. 22.—Reports of shipping disasters continue to come in from the English and Irish coasts.

The bark, Dronning Sophie, during the worst of the gale was driven ashore on Galleyhead, County Cork, between the bays of Ross and Clonakilty. She became a helpless wreck and was rapidly going to pieces, when her crew of eleven men were all saved by lifeboats.

A large steamer, name not yet reported, is stranded off Morris castle, County Wexford. Lines were thrown to the wreck, the breeches bouy rigged up and with it and the aid of the lifeboats all on board have been rescued.

The yacht Surprise has been wrecked near Belfast. The schooner Jane and Alice sank off Dungaroon yesterday. All hands were saved.

The weather was worse than ever last night in the British channel, but has moderated somewhat to-day. During the night a French steamer, name unknown, sunk off the Scilly islands. Her crew, consisting of 20 persons, were all saved except three, who went down with the ship.

What is likely to prove the greatest maritime disaster has occurred since the tempestuous weather of the past week set in is reported from the Cornish coast.

A large vessel, whose name is unknown but which is supposed to be a Spanish steamer, has been wrecked off Penzance, and it is feared that all hands who were aboard of her are lost.

Already brief dispatches telling of tragic and horrifying scenes which attended the disaster have been received. It is learned that a boat containing six men which had set out from the vessel for shore was capsized almost immediately in the blinding gale.

The boat was next seen keel upward but none of her crew could be seen except two men. The first of these was clinging to the boat in desperation. He was seen to be twice washed off. The second was swimming in an effort to reach safety.

Efforts made by the coast guard to help the two men proved too late, and both were drowned. Two boats from the wreck and a quantity of wreckage have come ashore.

MIXED RELIGION IN IT.

Father McDonogh Causes a Sensation

By His Reference to the Montague Incident.

He Claims the Jury Was All Protestants and That the Verdict Was Warped on Account of Prejudice.

Belfast, Feb. 22.—A decided sensation was created at Port Rush, five miles from Coloraine, by the action of the parish priest, Father McDonogh, who warmly espoused the cause of Mrs. Ann Margaret Montague, accused of feloniously slaying her little daughter by causing its death from suffocation.

Mrs. Montague, it will be remembered, fastened the arms of her child, who was confined in a dark room by the governess, behind her back and then tied her to a ring in the wall. Some hours later, the little girl was found suffocated, it being inferred that a stocking, used in binding the child, slipped around her neck and that it caused death by strangulation.

Mrs. Montague is now out on bail, pending her trial upon the charge mentioned.

Father McDonogh, in the parish church at Port Rush, after mass yesterday, declared that the coroner's jury which heard the evidence furnished against Mrs. Montague, and which found her guilty of causing her child's death, was composed entirely of Protestants, and that they were persecuting the lady referred to on account of her religion.

Mrs. Montague, Father McDonogh added, attended mass regularly, and, he said, the healthy, happy appearance of her children was generally noted and most favorably commented upon.

According to Father McDonogh, she was peculiar in her manner and a believer in strict discipline, but there was no reason to believe that she so ill-treated her child as to cause its death.

Continuing, the priest remarked that Mrs. Montague was a lady who did not know what fear was, as she had frequently shown by her daring conduct in the hunting field.

Finally Father McDonogh expressed the opinion that the Montagues were the victims of a conspiracy, the object of which was to persecute them on account of their religion.

The utterances of Father McDonogh are being much commented upon and will be called to the attention of his bishop.

OUT ON ANOTHER STRIKE.

Indianapolis People Walking Again To-Day.

Not a Street Car in the City is Running With No Probability of An Early Settlement

Indianapolis, Feb. 22.—Not a street car is moving in Indianapolis to-day, and it is hardly probable that any will move until police protection is given to the company's employes.

Mayor Sullivan still refuses to furnish police to assist in running the cars and President Frenzel says that they cannot be moved until protection is given.

One effort was made this morning at the New Jersey street barn to take out a horse car but the strikers pushed it back into the barn and bolted and barred the door. The company has eight barns, each of which is guarded by from 50 to 200 strikers and sympathizers to prevent any attempt to run cars.

The Central Labor union is expected to indorse the strike to-night. A compromise or concession by either side seems of remote possibility.

HARTER ON THE ISSUE.

Why He is Opposed to Free Coinage.

He Says it Would Rob the People in the Same Way That Protection Does.

Upper Sandusky, Feb. 22.—(Special)—A republican editor here having spoken favorably of Congressman M. D. Harter's atttude on the silver question, to-day received the following from the gentleman:

"Dear Friend: I am obliged for your kindly notice. You must not forget, however, that if you can agree with me on silver, you cannot help but do so on the tariff.

"I oppose free coinage and protection on the same grounds.

"They are both class legislation.

"One is for the advantage of a few manufacturers, the other for a few miners, but both rob the people, and in precisely the same way.

"MICHAEL D. HARTER."

LOCAL HAPPENINGS.

The Furniture Workers will give a ball Feb. 24, at Phoenix hall.

Railway Clerks' association has a complimentary party at Friendship hall this evening.

Henrietta F. Rowsey sued Arthur C. Roll et al. in common pleas court to-day to recover $150 on three notes.

The infirmary directors of Seneca county are in the city to-day looking after several charges in this city.

John P. Plank in common pleas court to-day sued Emma L. Pulford et al. to recover $2,390.05, balance on two notes.

The meeting of the First Ward Democratic club, called for this evening, has been postponed until Thursday night.

Most of the Catholic priests in this diocese will leave to-morrow for Philadelphia, to attend the consecration of Bishop Horstman.

The Y. W. C. A. have leased the rooms above I. H. Detwiler & Co.'s real estate office on St. Clair street. The rooms will be furnished in a splendid manner, and the quarters will be the cosiest in the city.

A motion to appoint a receiver in the case of the Claflin Paving company was granted in common pleas court this morning. The parties, however, have thus far been unable to agree upon an appointee.

In common pleas court to-day Mina Bettinger filed proceedings against the city of Toledo to recover $10,000 damages for injury sustained by a fall on Monroe street, alleging that the defective sidewalk was the cause.

The Northwestern Optical company is the title of a new house which starts to-morrow at 417 Adams street, under the management of Manager M. McCormick and Prof. W. F. Carew. It is the only exclusively optical house in the city, and will undoubtedly do a thriving business. Best wishes for success will attend the company.

Cincinnati Scottish rite bodies meet this week to confer the degrees from 18 to 32. Toledo formerly belonged to the Cincinnati jurisdiction, but now is attached to the new Cleveland consistory. Dyspepsia

Makes the lives of many people miserable, causing distress after eating, sour stomach, sick headache, heartburn, loss of appetite, a faint, "all gone" feeling, bad taste, coated tongue, and irregularity of the bowels. Dyspepsia does not get well of itself. It requires careful attention, and a remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acts gently, yet efficiently. It tones the stomach, regulates the digestion, creates a good appetite, banishes headache, and refreshes the mind.

Distress After Eating — Sick Headache — Heart-burn — Sour Stomach

"I have been troubled with dyspepsia. I had but little appetite, and what I did eat distressed me, or did me little good. After eating I would have a faint or tired, all-gone feeling, as though I had not eaten anything. My trouble was aggravated by my business, painting. Last spring I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, which did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appetite, and my food relished and satisfied the craving I had previously experienced." GEORGE A. PAGE, Watertown, Mass.

A COLUMN OF SMILES

A Slight Mistake.

He (hesitating at the entrance of the green room). "Pardon me, but there is some mistake. You are not the lady I wished to see, but the young girl who stood next to you in the last scene."

She (pouting). Oh, I beg pardon. I shall tell her," (and then she put her head under a curtain and he heard her say) "Grandma, there's a young man here wants to see you."—Dramatic Mirror.

Do It All.

Intelligent Foreigner—Does the state build these magnificent boulevards?

Chicago Man—No, sir! We do it ourselves!

"Wonderful! And who are the idiots that cut them all to pieces by driving over them with buggies that have tires only an inch wide on the wheels?"

"Er—we are."—Chicago Tribune.

The Limit Reached.

Johnny—Where you goin'?

Tommy—Home. Don't you hear maw a-callin' me?

"That's nothin'. She called you two or three times before."

"Yes, but she's out at the peach tree now cuttin' off a ultimatum."—Indianapolis Journal.

A Natural Death.

"So poor Bill Stubs is dead?" said a man on the train the other day.

"Yes, I understand so. Where did it happen?"

"In Colorado."

"Did you learn any of the particulars?"

"Nothing, except that he died a natural death."

"Is that so? Why, I was told he was knocked down on the street and had the life beaten out of him."

"Well, that's what they call a natural death in Colorado now."—Texas Siftings.

What He Was About.

It was 3 a. m., and Mr. Rambo was making energetic but futile efforts to find the keyhole in his front door.

"Hello, there! What are you about?" sternly demanded a policeman who happened along.

"I'm about th' dr-drunkest man in thish part."—Chicago Tribune.

Uri Was There.

Down on Washington street before the fire stood the old Arlington Minstrel hall. Minstrel performances used to be greatly relished by Chicago society, which attended at every opportunity. Local "gags" were greatly relished, and many of them were cleverly worked up. One of the cruelest jokes was once played upon Uri Balcom. His friends never tire of telling it. It happened one night during a crowded performance. Mr. Balcom with several friends sat down in front. The performance was about half over when a messenger came out on the stage and handed a telegraph envelope to the interlocutor. He read it and advanced to the front.

"Is Mr. Uri Balcom in the house?" he asked.

Mr. Balcom immediately arose. "I am Mr. Bal——"

He never finished the sentence. At that instant the performers broke into the tune of the old "Upidee" college song and roared it out in full chorus:

Mr. Balcom's now in town
Upidee, Upida;
Mr. B. can now sit down,
Upidee, Upida.—Chicago News.

Some Advice Isn't Cheap.

Collector—Won't you subscribe something to our fund, Mr. Brief?

Lawyer—Have you asked Bronson?

Collector—No.

Lawyer—Well, I'd advise you to ask Bronson. He'll give you something handsome.

Collector—But your subscription?

Lawyer—Oh—I? Oh yes. Well, I won't charge you anything for my advice about Bronson. Good morning.—Harper's Bazar.

Quiet Necessary.

A doctor finds it difficult sometimes to secure for the patient the quiet necessary for his recovery. One doctor, however, was equal to the emergency. The fussy, worrying wife of a man who was ill came up to him as he was leaving the house, asking: "Oh, doctor, how is he? How is he to-day?"

"Above everything, he must positively have quiet, so I have written out a prescription here for a couple of opium powders," replied the doctor.

"When shall he take them? When shall I give them to him?"

"Him?" said the doctor. "I've prescribed them for you."—Life.

She Felt Relieved.

Policeman's Boy (breathlessly)—Mother, there's been a big row down town and several officers are hurt.

Policeman's Wife (excitedly)—Where was it?

P. B.—On father's beat.

P. W. (with a sigh of relief)—Oh, I'm so glad! Of course your father wasn't there when it happened?

P. B.—No'm.

As Described By An Observer.

Attorney (cross-examining witness for the other side)—"You say the moon was shining brightly at the time?"

Witness—"It was."

"You are perfectly familiar with the appearance of the moon, are you?"

"Yes, sir."

"Can tell a moon as far as you can see it, can you?"

"I think I can."

"Ever see the man in the moon?"

"I've seen what they call the man in the moon."

"Often?"

"Many a time."

"What does he look like?"

"Well, to tell you the truth, he looks like a little two-for-a-cent, one-horse lawyer."

Lonesome, But Not Lovely.

A bachelor physician was once called to see a young widow. "You are lonesome," said the doctor. "Your husband has been dead three years. I'd advise you to marry again."

"Oh, doctor, I'll marry to-morrow if you will have me."

"Ah! ah! Well," muttered the doctor, stepping back and blushing, "you know, madam, that physicians never take their own prescriptions."—Texas Siftings.

THE CHESS CONTEST

For the Championship of the State

Commenced in This City This Morning—The Winners Thus Far—Toledo In It.

The sixth annual meeting and tournament of the Ohio Chess association commenced in this city this morning at the rooms of the Republican club. The contestants in the championship games are C. Locke Curtis and J. E. Martin, of Toledo, E. L. Blumenschein, of Dayton; Sydnor Hall, of the Cincinnati Chess club; W. C. Cochran, of the Mt. Auburn Chess club, and W. H. Willenburg, of Cleveland. The last named gentleman takes the place of Maurice Judd, of this city, who withdraws from the tournament.

A large number of gentlemen dropped into the rooms this morning to watch the progress of the games, which were very close and consequently full of interest to the initiated.

Three games in the championship contest were played this morning.

C. Locke Curtis won from W. C. Cochran.

E. L. Blumenschein won from Sydnor Hall.

W. H. Willenburg won from J. E. Martin.

This afternoon they are playing as follows: Willenburg and Blumenschein; Martin and Cochran and Curtis and Hall. Each contestant will play two games with every other contestant.

In the free for all games were won as follows in the first round:

B. Fink, of Kenton, won from W. J. Althouse, of the same place.

J. C. Rike won from H. A. Merrill, both of this city. All the players following are Toledoans.

Dr. A. C. Barlow won from W. H. H. Smith.

J. B. Battelle won from I. E. Knisely.

R. H. Burns won from C. C. Doolittle.

In the second round Dr. Barlow won from Mr. Fink, Mr. Smith won from Althouse, and Battelle won from Rike.

THE BLAINE DIVORCE SUIT.

A Decree Granted by Judge Thomas.

Young Blaine Must Pay His Wife One Hundred Dollars a Month As Permanent Alimony.

Deadwood, S. D., Feb. 22.—Judge Thomas has granted a decree of divorce to Mrs. James G. Blaine, Jr., with custody of her child and $1,000 to pay expenses of suit and $100 a month as permanent alimony.

Brief arguments were made and at noon Saturday Judge Thomas announced his decision, giving Mrs. Blaine all that she had asked for. In her testimony she said her chief desire was to have the custody of her child, James G. Blaine, Jr.

Mrs. Blaine is apparently very happy over the result, and accompanied by her attorney, her son and her maid, will leave Deadwood for Sioux Falls.

Practically there was no defense, the defendant's attorneys simply watching the case under instructions to fight only in case cruelty and adultery should be alleged.

Judge Thomas, who gave the decision in favor of Mrs. Blaine, in announcing his decision, said the testimony showed that "the cause of the separation was unfriendly feeling of the family and especially the elder Mrs. Blaine. As far as Mr. Blaine was concerned, the plaintiff was properly treated, but Mrs. Blaine did all in her power to make the life of the plaintiff unhappy. She evidently concluded that it was best to separate them and so surround them with circumstances which would result in an apparent desertion on the part of the plaintiff.

"In other words she treated the plaintiff so cruelly as to cause her to be so unhappy that she would leave the family home and so she could claim that the wife deserted the husband. Young Blaine's conduct under all the circumstances is very reprehensible. He does not seem to be made of the stuff we would expect from his family. As soon as he got under the domination of his mother he seemed to become estranged from the wife and treated her with neglect and inattention. The evidence shows that the desertion was the result of the machinations of his mother and that the treatment of the plaintiff was reprehensible and bad in every respect."

Speaking of young Mrs. Blaine's sickness Judge Thomas said: "It is hard to find the language to describe the court's feeling against a young man who would act as he has done. All the testimony showed the plaintiff tried everything in her power to make her husband return to her, while he seemed to be estranged from her by his mother." He decided in the view of the desertion of the plaintiff and the failure to support her, the decree of divorce should issue as stated above. The defendant must pay the plaintiff $1,000 suit money, $400 attorneys' fees and $100 per month alimony.

WAS IT ORTH STEIN?

Trying to Identify the New York Robber.

The Man Under Arrest Bears a Striking Resemblance to the Notorious Western Man.

Rochester, N. Y., Feb. 22.—A dispatch from St. Louis says that description of the man who robbed the express car on the New York Central yesterday morning tallies to the letter, glass and all, with that of Orth Stein.

Stein is one of the most notorious criminals of the country. He is a newspaper man and worked on the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. He is a bright man and a consummate scoundrel. He killed a man at Kansas City and has been up time and again for forgery, confidence games and robbery.

Stein has recently lived in Atlanta, Ga., where he was regarded as having completely reformed his ways. He was employed on the Atlanta Constitution.

George W. Dilling, of Detroit, one of the lumber district politicians of Michigan, says to a Philadelphia Press reporter that since Mr. Blaine was out of the presidential race, he thinks the state is solid for Gen. Alger. "Gen. Alger," he says, "has a strong following in the lake country, and I feel safe in saying that he would be generally supported by all western republicans. But if he is not to be the standard bearer of this campaign, Mr. Harrison is next on the list. His administration has pleased the people of the country districts, and if renominated he will be re-elected without the least shadow of a doubt."

BLEW HIS HEAD OFF.

Frightful Suicide of a Dayton Man.

He Uses a Mirror to Get a Good Aim and Then Sends a Charge Crashing Into His Brain.

Dayton, Feb. 22.—Saturday this city was horrified by the announcement that Owen Smith, aged sixty-five, a prominent carriage manufacturer and horseman, had committed suicide by blowing the top of his head off with a double-barrled shotgun.

Mr. Smith was a well-to-do and respected citizen and no cause can be assigned for the act except that he was lamenting over the death of his wife and the wayward acts of a son, gave him much trouble.

He also had the grip this winter, which added to his gloom. Mr. Smith was one of the best horsemen in the country and had owned several fine horses.

When the suicide was committed no one was at his residence but himself, but he had previously told his step-daughter if anything happened him how to dispose of the estate.

When the coroner, police and friends went to the room where the suicide was committed an awful sight met their gaze. In an upstairs bedroom before a wardrobe lay the body at full length.

The suicide had been committed by means of a mirror in which Mr. Smith looked while he arranged the gun barrels to his head. Dressed in his best suit with a roll of money by his side and the top of his head blown off, he was found.

Portions of the skull and brains were scattered over the room. One eye was found upon the bureau and the other on the landing of the stairway, to where it had been blown through the adjoining room. The nose and upper lip complete with part of the mustache attached was found in another part of the room. A gold plate, part of the arrangement to which a false set of teeth were attached, was found in another part of the apartment.

Mr. Smith leaves a son, Willis, and an adopted daughter, Mollie, the child of his wife's sister. It was the latter who first discovered her father's body. She had been to market and on her return went upstairs where she discovered the body. She immediately gave the alarm.

OVER IN MICHIGAN.

Ann Arbor is after a public building.

A High school building will be erected at Port Huron.

George Duquette will build an opera house at Lake Linden.

Marquette and Menominee will join the Lake Superior base ball league.

The Pere Marquette club at Ludington has opened a new club house.

There were 22 deaths in Coldwater the last month, at an average of 62 years.

Joseph Garvin, a prominent gardener of Detroit, has mysteriously disappeared.

Arthur Joslin, an Adrian mail carrier, has been suspended for allowing his dog to chew up a bundle of letters.

The Lansing Driving Club association has been organized with a capital stock of $50,000, with $23,500 paid up.

Hereafter Montmorency county will struggle along without a register of deeds. The county clerk will attend to the duties.

The Old Settlers' association of Grand Traverse, Antrim, Charlevoix and Kalkaska counties, will meet at Elk Rapids March 1.

A syndicate has purchased 20,000 acres of land near Sault Ste. Marie, and will establish an immense farm, on which a colony of 300 German and Scandinavian families will be located.

DR. P. A. GORDON DEAD.

Norwalk, O., Feb. 22.—(Special)—Dr. P. A. Gordon, for many years one of the leading physicians of Milan, Erie county, died suddenly this morning of heart disease. He was well known among the physicians throughout the country as an able practitioner.

AN IMPORTANT DIFFERENCE.

To make it apparent to thousands, who think themselves ill, that they are not affected with any disease, but that the system simply needs cleansing, is to bring comfort home to their hearts, as a costive condition is easily cured by using Syrup of Figs. Manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co.

HE DIED IN OPEN COURT.

STRANGE FATALITY AMONG PUBLIC MEN.

An Appalling List of Great Personages Who Have Died Without Warning.

The recent sudden death of Senator Plumb and the still more recent one of Judge Knapp, who expired while seated upon the judicial bench, muster from the grave the memory of an army of public men who have died in the harness. Note them as they slowly file in review before you.

Senator Zach Chandler was found dead in his bed at the Grand Pacific hotel.

Secretary Windom died while speaking at a banquet.

Senator Beck dropped insensible in the Potomac depot on the exact spot where President Garfield was shot.

Secretary Folger worked to the last and died without warning.

Senator Tom Corwin expired at a reception while talking with Salmon P. Chase, Ben Wade, Senator Schenck and John Sherman.

The Hon. Hannibal Hamlin died at the club while chatting with his friends.

Minister Pendleton passed away while seated in a railroad train.

Senator Charles Sumner, Massachusett's pride, died suddenly, working faithfully to the hour of his death.

Senator Simon Cameron feels the mysterious creeping of paralysis and falls in the arms of his friends.

Salmon P. Chase passed away peacefully while seated at his desk with his pen in his hand.

Vice-President Wilson died after emerging from the senate bath-room.

John Quincy Adams dropped in his chair in the house of representatives.

And so the list might be prolonged. It would include such brilliant names as Senator Matt Carpenter, Secretary of the Treasury Daniel Manning, ex-President Arthur, the Hon. Thos. H. Benton, Senator Ferry and many others.

These men died suddenly and without warning, but the significant fact in connection with their deaths is that the cause in each case was the same. It may have been called "heart disease" or "apoplexy," but what is heart disease or apoplexy? Simply a result, not a cause. Overwork and overindulgence weaken certain great organs. From the weakness of these organs the blood becomes poisoned, clots the heart and clogs the brain. Do you ask what these organs are? The kidneys and liver. None of these great men would have died as they did had their kidneys and liver been in order. Physicians realize this truth, and the more intelligent men and women are beginning to find it out. Not only this, but they have found out the way of preventing this gradual undermining of the life and the coming on of sudden death. Read what they say:

Dr. Hoesch of Berlin, Germany, asserts: "I have been the victim of palpitation of the heart, and upon taking the least cold the symptoms would become alarming. This has entirely disappeared under the use of Warner's Safe Cure, and I am perfectly well and strong."

Dr. A. C. Gunn, Dean of the United States Medical College, New York, declares: "I am independent enough and frank enough to commend most heartily that great remedy, Warner's Safe Cure."

The Rev. J. E. Rankin, D. D., of Washington, D. C., affirms: "I know physicians of the highest character and standing who prescribe and use Warner's Safe Cure for diseases of the kidney and urinary organs. I desire in the interests of humanity to recommend this medicine."

Great men may pass away suddenly and leave a warning to others who are overworking or over-indulging. The slender thread of life may be strained, but it need not be snapped if care and the right preventive remedy are used. Modern life has its strains, but it also has its discoveries which preserve the health and lengthen the life. And foremost among the discoveries for the benefit of humanity is the great one of which these scientific men speak.

FIRE IN NEW YORK.

New York, Feb. 22.—The building No. 435 Fulton street, Brooklyn, caught fire at 12:50 this morning and was damaged to the extent of $5,000.

All the tenants escaped, but Mrs. John Goodman became panic stricken and wrapping her child in the bed clothing, threw it out of the window.

The little one was caught by a fireman but is mortally hurt. John Michaelson received severe burns about the hands and face and was taken to the Long Island hospital.

Brown's Teething Cordial was first prepared and used by a physician.

TOLEDO, OHIO, FEBRUARY 22, 1892.

Things are humming in St. Louis today. Just what will be evolved from the splendid mass of material is a puzzle to the oldest politician.

The Minneapolis Tribune quotes the Bee's "Silver Dollar" poetry and credits it to another paper. No more of that if you please, neighbor.

Minneapolis is getting ready for the convention. She has passed a law for open saloons on Sunday and established two Keeley gold-cure institutes.

What matter if France is lukewarm and Portugal decides to come not at all to our world's fair; "Porto Rico is intensely interested" and we are all right.

As is eminently proper, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin will be neighbors on the world's fair grounds. And these thriving commonwealths represent one of the very choicest sections of the North American continent.

Flags are flying to-day from all the staffs in the city in honor of the memory of the Father of his Country. The orphaned Union needs a stepfather in these degenerate days. Washington would find the struggle for free government still on if he were to don his knee breeches and walk forth again.

The tussle with the treasury problem, how to make dollars appear where there are none, has proven too much for even the sanguine temperament of Charley Foster. He must needs quit the country to obtain respite. With a democratic congress in session to watch appropriation bills, he feels it safe to go.

Mrs. J. G. Blaine, jr., is better off with the alimony granted, support of her child and other moneys, than she could possibly be with her weakling husband. It has been a weary struggle for the woman but she is victor at last. Now if she will consult her best interests and not attempt the stage, she has public opinion with her.

When highwaymen rob an express train in the most populous portion of the country, and a mail wagon is rifled in the streets of Chicago, and a lynching and burning at the stake are reported from the south in one issue of news, what wonder that timorous foreigners ask, "Will it be safe for us to go over in '93?"

The politicians who have made and upheld high tax laws, until the cap sheaf of the business was put on in the thing marked with the McKinley brand, go on sounding their trumpets as to its glory and perfection, while industrial societies are declaring for themselves that they will be imposed upon no longer by such one-sided legislation.

"Cutting the wages of mechanics as well as of unskilled laborers is still in progress," says the morning Toledo protectionist journal. So soon after the establishment of the McKinley law, passed in the sole interest of labor? Alack, the abject confusion, that the thing is a fraud and the warnings and predictions of the democrats are proven true.

This is a big day in Michigan's university town. The leader of the United States democracy, on the birthday of Washington, the first democratic president, will address a representative crowd of citizens of the Middle West. Strange mutations within a brief period—Michigan and Iowa, the old republican fortresses, alive with democratic sentiment.

Users of pearl buttons pay three prices for them in this country to enable home manufacturers of the same to compete with foreign pauper labor. The proprietors of one of the largest factories in the country, at Eau Claire, Wis., are under $1,500 bonds for employing that same pauper labor under contract made in Germany. And strange to tell the expose came through the "paupers" themselves, who, once over here, were denied the money promised them when the bargain was made on the other side. Evidently 80 per cent. duty on pearl buttons is not enough to "protect" the manufacturer, he should be given a bonus direct from the treasury to enable him to pay costs for suits brought for violation of the contract labor law.

It is an unwritten rule of congress that a new member is expected to be very quiet for a winter or two, and if permitted to address the house it is a mark of special favor shown by the speaker. Still, a man of ability and forceful qualities is always able to make himself heard in or out of congress, as Hon. M. D. Harter has demonstrated. Upon several occasions he has held the floor against the protest of the old stagers, and he has made his presence in congress felt. Harter is a man of parts, a statesman as well as a manufacturer, and he is sound as a good dollar on many points. It is very certain that he will not be a silent member of congress, but a hard worker and a good talker as occasion may suggest or demand.

Discussing Ohio.

The Ohio senate has passed a congressional redistricting bill which is intended to give the republicans sixteen and the democrats five districts. If the republicans of the lower branch of the legislature don't possess any more keen political judgment and sense of right and wrong, the bill will become a law, and the present gerrymander of the state will be succeeded by one that will be a disgrace and a menace to the party that is responsible for it.—Washington Post.

Barbarous Judge Lynch.

The news from Texarkana is that a mulatto has been burned at the stake by a mob. It is Lynch law in a form more revolting than usual. Nothing more terrible in form of punishment is conceivable. Judge Lynch has gone to the limit of barbarity. But whether he has also reached the limit of public toleration is doubtful. The boasted civilization of these end of the century days puts up with a great deal.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Worthy of Consideration

It is refreshing to turn aside from the contemplation of the disgusting strife of warring factions in New York and behold the harmony in the western democracy. The contrast should be suggestive to the democrats of the nation. It should convince them of what is true, that a democratic victory at the next election will be the best assured by the nomination of a western man for president.—Chicago Herald.

Second Fiddle.

How does Mr. Morton feel after learning that General Butler was twice offered the vice-presidency?—Louisville Courier-Journal.

MENTIONED ON THE STREETS.

That farmers are getting into shape to begin spring work.

That Chairman Hahn will be inspector of oils if he so desires.

That Alderman Macomber will not be a candidate for re-election.

That the justices of the peace favor a salary bill for their offices.

That there is no evidence of a wheat corner in these parts just yet.

That Councilman Caldwell will retire in the spring tra la, without doubt.

That the proposition to purchase gas pumps has not struck the popular chord.

That George Reynolds will be a candidate for re-election as infirmary director.

That the letter carriers expect a jam at their party to-night at the Pythian castle.

That the Hassenzahl-Miller slate for the First ward may be smashed at the caucus.

That many members of the senior class of the high school have scured their pins and are wearing them.

That an effort will be made to induce Councilman Pheatt to make the race once more in the second ward.

That the banks, postoffice and other public institutions rested to-day, because of Washington's celebration.

That Louis Metzger would have no difficulty in winning a seat in the council if he would consent to run.

That members of the National union will hear something of importance at to-night's entertainment at the opera house.

That the twelve-story steel and eight-story Walbridge buildings will greatly add to the appearance of the corner of Huron and Madison streets.

That there is not much inducement for Toledo's singers to give up several months to rehearsals if they are to be greeted with sparsely settled houses.

That W. H. Maher's articles scarcely need to be signed to disclose their authorship, but his John Hancock, contrary to general custom, is always appended.

That another tilt will occur to-night at the joint session, with Mayor Emmick at the bat, the councilmen in the field, and Reynold Voit on the players' bench awaiting the result.

Rather Suggestive.

There ought to be some fun in Louisiana politics this spring, with five full state tickets in the field, including two from each of the two leading political parties. Yet the withdrawal of the lottery kings from active participation in the fight may leave the political workers in the position of men invited to a banquet at which there is nothing to eat.—Philadelphia Record

Will Keep On Increasing.

"A voice from the wilderness" is what the Philadelphia Record call Gov. Ames' remarks on McKinleyism. This is not exactly graphic. This vicinity can hardly be styled a wilderness for tariff reformers. The woods are full of them, and they continue to increase and to multiply all the time.—Boston Herald.

Harrison's Opposition.

The republicans who declare that Mr. Harrison will have a walk-over in the Minneapolis convention do not know whereof they speak. The declination of Secretary Blaine was given out early enough to allow the crystallization of the opposition to the president's renomination upon some other man.—St. Louis Star-Sayings.

Must Come Off.

Another protected rolling mill in Pennsylvania has reduced the wages of its employes 10 per cent. The war duties must "come off."—New York World.

IT WAS A FALSE ALARM.

Secretary Foster Not Fixing Up a Silver Compromise.

Washington, Feb. 22.—Secretary Foster was asked whether there was any truth in the published report that a meeting is to be held at his residence between himself, Senator Teller, Senator Aldrich and other prominent public men, representing both sides of the silver question for the purpose of effecting a compromise, by which the administration will lend its efforts to the calling of an international monetary conference, if republican senators who favor free coinage will agree to prevent the passage of a free coinage bill this session of congress.

The secretary replied that there was nothing in the report and told the reporter he could deny it on his (the secretary's) authority. Senators Teller and Aldrich are both out of the city and neither of them are expected to return to-day. This the secretary referred as evidence that there can be no meeting between himself and the senators named to-day as he himself expected to leave the city this afternoon for New York enroute to Europe.

HAVING A STORMY TIME.

London, Feb. 22.—The steamer Sir Walter Raleigh, Capt. Smith, from Philadelphia for Falmouth, which put into Bear Haven, Bantry bay, February 13, with her shaft broken in two places and put to sea again in tow, but was obliged to part from her tug in a storm, has been picked up by the tug Lilian Stewart, and was brought into Bear Haven again.

BISMARCK IN PUBLIC.

Berlin, Feb. 22.—The Prussian Cross Gazette reports that Prince Bismarck will take his seat in the Herrenhaus at the coming session of the diet.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

A Manufacturer Has a Word to Say.

To the Editor: I read with interest the able reports in the Bee of the investigations of the gas committee. Can it be possible that the reports of the amount of gas in the field made by the gas trustees could have been wrong? Some of us anti-pipe liners said so at the time. How about it, Messrs. Parsons and Brown?

Can it be possible that there has been such a shrinkage in the gas supply and all since July, when $300,000 or $400,000 were spent to pipe the city?

Mr. Brown quits, Mr. Parsons has no more time to give, and I see, too, that Alderman Macomber is not a candidate for re-election. What is the matter? Do they "deduce" and conclude that "rats desert a sinking ship?"

Poor pipe liners, don't spend another cent. It will be money thrown away. Sell the line for what it will bring and the poor taxpayer will go down in his pocket and pay for his folly.

It strikes me that the citizens of Toledo won't feel amicably disposed towards those who have conducted pipe line matters in the manner that they have been conducted.

THE MANUFACTURER.

ABOUT PEOPLE.

The three hundredth anniversary of the death of Tasso, the poet, will be celebrated in Rome this year.

At Easter the betrothal of the czarowitz with his cousin, Princess Marie of Greece, will be announced.

Mrs. Humphrey Ward was thirteen years completing her first book, and four years on her last literary venture.

The Paris executioner, M. Deibler, has always been a passionate violinist, practicing early every morning, execution or otherwise.

Lady Henry Somerset, who has been staying in Chicago, has abandoned her projected trip to Japan and will return to England, with her son, early next month.

The oldest Unitarian minister now living is probably Rev. Thomas Treadwell Stone, D. D., of Providence, who completed his 91st year last week.

Oliver Wendell Holmes has written with the same pen for 25 years. It is gold and in perfect condition.

Col. William McIntosh, of Deer Foot, Minn., a veteran of 1812, chops his own firewood and bathes at dawn seven days a week in water from a spring near his solitary habitation.

THAT ANTI-OPTION BILL.

Secretary D. B. Smith Expresses An Opinion.

He Returns From Washington With Hopes the Bill Will Be Modified —Toledo's Chance for An Appropriation Good.

Mr. D. B. Smith, secretary of the Produce Exchange, returned from Washington Saturday night, and has hopes the obnoxious Washburn anti-option bill will be knocked out, or at least modified.

"What are Toledo's chances for a large appropriation?" he was asked by a Bee this morning.

"Toledo's chances," he said, "are as good as any. Of course we will share the fate of others in that regard."

The following is a synopsis of a report he will read on 'change to-morrow:

It is not too much to say that the information placed before the committee of the house will at least cause a modification of their preconceived very radical opinions on this subject. We have never known, we have never heard of in our long life, such vicious, outrageous and shameless legislation as was intended by the original bills introduced in each branch of congress on this subject. And it is a fair proposition to say that the average member of congress believed in the necessity of some such legislation. And why? The leaders of the farmers' alliances throughout the country have busied themselves for years in propagating the sentiment that the work of the exchanges was all against the farmers' interests—that the members were a band of gamblers, if not thieves—that the trading in agricultural products, in its effects, had a positive and inevitable tendency to depress values. The effect of all this constant reiteration of this teaching for years has finally convinced the minds of farmers of its truth, and they have expressed their sentiments from organized authoritative assemblies by resolutions. Nor is this all. On farmers' alliance platforms, in which the feature we have named is one of the planks, several members of congress have been elected, and it is not to be wondered at that while there has been heretofore no effort to refute the position of the alliances, congress should have concluded that their position must be correct.

The Exchanges Have Not Moved.

Of course,it could not have been anticipated that radical measures such as the bills before congress would be resorted to, and until the opposition to the exchanges had taken form and substance they were unable to properly present the real truths, the absolute fact that the influence of trading on the exchanges for future delivery was most obviously and positively in the opposite direction from what has been preached these years by the leaders of the alliances.

What Must Be Done.

But now the absolute existence of the exchanges is menaced, and it is time for action. The exchanges are all grouped together in interest and responsibility. As about the only western paper issued by an exchange, we believe it is our duty to suggest to all other exchanges the necessity of continued incessant effort, through the press, by private correspondence and all proper methods to present to congressmen the other side of this question, and correct their impressions formed by considering but one side of it. The fact is, they have not studied it, and have been influenced by the popular clamor. Our space forbids further comment to-day, except to state that upon so important a question as the one presented we have faith that the average congressman will act fairly when he understands it fully.

TO AID THE MEN

Who Plow the Stormy Waves on the Lakes.

Col. Smith Makes a Report Recommending Light Houses and Flag Signals.

Washington, Feb. 22.—Col. Smith has sent to the lighthouse board his recommendations.

Col. Smith recommended a steam fog whistle in duplicate for Galloo island, Lake Ontario, to cost $5,700; a lighthouse on the head of Carlton's island in the St. Lawrence river, $8,600; a steam fog-whistle in duplicate at Erie harbor, $5,700; the same at Fairport harbor, O.; a small lighthouse on the shore end of the pier at Huron, O., $600; a lighthouse on Starve island reef, $8,600, and a light on the pier at Port Clinton, $3,000. He disapproved of a lightship at Bay State shoals, of a steam fog whistle at Buffalo breakwater and of steam fog signals at Lorain, O.

He made no report on the proposed lightship to take the place of a private lightship now maintained by vessel owners at Bar Point, Detroit river, for want of sufficient information. He urged the necessity of two lights at Lime Kiln crossing, Detroit river. He approved of a lightship with a fog bell at Ballard's reef, Detroit river, and suggested a ruby panel to be introduced in the lantern of the Mamojuda light in place of ranges in Grosse Isle. The same suggestion was made regarding the proposed range to mark the channel between Grassy and Mamojuda islands.

Col. Smith made the following report concerning the range lights in the Maumee river: "It will be necessary to modify these lights at an early day, as the new channel will be completed early in the season of 1892, and the new channel should be marked." He estimated the cost at $8,000, as follows: Front range and foundation, $1,600; rear range, $1,000; illuminating apparatus, $1,000; reservation and buildings, $4,000; contingencies, $400.

Col. Smith adds: "I may, however, state that I am engaged upon a plan for modifying the present crib lights in such a manner as to serve for ranges in both directions at a saving expense. I shall submit the plan and estimates as soon as they can be completed."

OHIOANS IN NEW YORK.

Governor Campbell on the Spoils System.

He Says It Will Ruin the Greatest Statesmen of the Country Unless the Evil is Remedied.

New York, Feb. 22.—The Ohio Society of New York gave its seventh annual banquet at Sherry's Saturday night.

It was expected that the five Ohio born members of the administration, President Harrison and Secretaries Foster, Noble, Rusk and Elkins, would be present, but they all sent regrets. Two hundred and forty other Buckeyes were there, including Senator Calvin S. Brice and Congressmen Outhwaite, Harter, Pattison and Taylor.

Ex-Gov. Campbell, in a speech an hour long, told something of the 36 governors of Ohio.

Speaking of the war governors he said that none of them were renominated because the great war patronage of the office politically killed them.

"This shows that the vice of patronage will destroy the greatest statesman this country can produce if some remedy is not applied."

Mr. Campbell said that ex-Gov. Hoadley, in scholarship, character and ability, was not excelled by any governor of Ohio.

Congressmen Outhwaite and Harter, and Murat Halstead also spoke.

The custom of having a court poet—one whose duty it is to write to order, as it were—is at present confined to Britain, among civilized nations. In ancient times the custom was well nigh universal. Every court had its poet and painter, as well as its dwarf and buffoon.

BLOWN FROM THE TRAIN.

Commander Howard Meets Death in Illinois.

Joliet, Ill., Feb. 22.—Albert M. Howard, of Schenectady, N. Y., is the name of the man who was found dead beside the railroad track at Braidwood Friday night.

He was on his way to Colorado Springs and was blown from the train as he was passing from the sleeper to the dining car.

Howard was past commander of Brown G. A. R. post of Schenectady. His body was sent to that place yesterday.

CHARGED WITH CONSPIRACY.

London, Feb. 22.—At the instance of the government a summons has been issued for the appearance in court of Mr. Horatio Bottomley, Sir Henry Isaacs, ex-lord mayor of London, Mr. Joseph Isaacs, a brother of Sir Henry Isaacs, and Mr. Charles Dollman, who are charged with conspiracy to defraud the Hansard Union out of the sum of $150,000.

THE INDIANAPOLIS HORROR.

Indianapolis, Feb. 22.—The verdict of the coroner's jury in the investigation of the fatal fire in the Surgical institute, which occurred some weeks ago, exonerates the management and employes from all responsibility. The report further says that the patients died from fright, and that none were burned to death, but met their fate by suffocation.

AFFECTING TOLEDO.

Many Matters That Hit Local Railroaders.

Lumber Rates, Salt Rates, Iron Rates to and From This City—Other Items of Interest.

The iron committee having given further consideration to the application of the Michigan Central for a reduction in the rates on manufactured iron from Wyandotte, Mich., to Chicago, recommended to the Central Traffic association that a rate of 11 cents per 100 lbs. be authorized on bar and plate iron carloads from the above named place and Toledo to Chicago, Ill., which recommendation has been adopted.

Lumber Rates from Toledo.

The matter of lumber rates from Toledo and Sandusky, to points east of Pittsburg, was to have been taken up at the recent meeting of the Central Traffic freight committee but as a full meeting of the lumber committee was deemed requisite for the consideration of this important question, action has been postponed until such a meeting can be held.

Salt to Toledo.

The Central Traffic association, upon the application of the majority of the Saginaw committee, has adopted a proportional rate of 12 cents per barrel from Saginaw Valley to Toledo, Detroit and Port Huron, to apply only on shipments to points beyond where through tariffs are not in effect.

Nothing In It.

A report comes from New York to the effect that a union of the bituminous coal producing interests, including the Baltimore & Ohio, the Wheeling & Lake Eric, the Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling and the Hocking Valley in the Pittsburg and Ohio districts, and the Chicago & Eastern in the Illinois district, has been formed for the purpose of regulating the output and arranging for the sale of bituminous coal through joint agencies.

Officials of coals roads in this city who are in a position to know say that there is nothing in the report, which has been widely circulated.

Regarding the World's Fair.

The roads in the Central Traffic association are authorized to accept on traffic originating in the territory of the Central Traffic association and the joint committee, the standard form of bill of lading on shipments made by the United States government to and from the world's fair. This follows the action of the trunks lines in agreeing to accept the government bill of lading on shipments made by the government to the fair.

Applies Locally.

To apply in this territory, hereafter when a car less than thirty feet in length is ordered for shipment of machinery or other freight, and the originating road, through inability to secure a short car, is compelled to furnish a car 30 feet or over in length, it shall be permitted to bill at the weight for a short car, but a certificate signed by the agent of the originating company must accompany the manifest to destination, showing why it was done and that the property could have been loaded in a short car.

Cinders Here and There.

Sydnor Hall of Cincinnati, of the Kanawha Despatch, is in the city, playing in the chess tournament for the championship of Ohio.

T. B. Duffey of Columbus, general purchasing agent of the C., H. V. & T., is in the city.

Hudson Fitch, general freight agent of the Ohio Central lines, is out of the city to-day.

C. N. Pratt, superintendent of the Toledo, St. Louis & Kansas City railroad, is in town to-day.

The improvements at the Clover Leaf general offices are nearly completed.

The trouble at the T., St. L. & K. C. shops at Delphos has not yet been settled. The men are still out.

T. J. Clark, traveling passenger agent of the Chicago & Rock Island, is in town dressed in his new suit of clothes.

The rates on brick clay, shale, etc., recommended by the Tiffin committee to apply from Tiffin have been adopted as the rates named are in line with those previously authorized from Bucyrus.

The rates on sand, brick clay and shale, published by the Pennsylvania company from Toledo to various points, has been approved by the Central Traffic association.

Commercial Agent Dennis Rielly of the Ann Arbor went up the line to-day.

Commercial Agent C. T. Wight and Traveling Freight Agent E. N. Kendall of the B. & O. went up in Michigan this afternoon.

THE EARTH OFFERED

To Toledo Manufacturing Establishments

To Locate In and About Chicago—Sample of a Proposition Received This Morning.

The management of a number of Toledo's most substantial manufacturing establishments have been receiving by almost every mail offers and inducements of the most glowing character to transfer their plant and interest to some other locality. These fabulous propositions are mailed from Chicago, by agents of the hundreds of improvement companies, who are booming suburban localities. These companies will agree to do anything, pay any price, accede to any terms, just so they procure the industries. Some offer so much land and a big bonus, when the plant is in operation. Another offers a site worth $5,000 an acre and $100 for every hand employed. There are still others who want to co-operate, and promise a million can be made in a day. The following received by a leading manufacturer of Toledo in his mail this morning is a fair sample of the offers made and how a failure is made (on paper):

Facts and figures for a proposed manufacturing site, 3,000 acres, located on the Belt Line and the junction of two Trunk lines, only 25 miles from the Chicago court house, 45 minutes' ride with a suburban service equal to any out from Chicago.

Statement 1,000 Acres.

Acres.
1,000
10 railway right of way.
———
990
40 for factory sites.
———
950 to sub-divide into lots, $9,000.

Sub-divide—
275 acres, 2,600 lots at $250 each	$650,000
1,000 acres at $150 per acre	150,000
Factory buildings to work 1,200 to 1,500 hands	100,000
Improving 1,000 acres at $200	200,000
10 per cent. for selling and for advertising	250,000
	$700,000

Lots then, the factories being erected, and the entire tract improved, will certainly sell for not less than $300 each, $100 to $150 each less than the average price of lots sold at Harvey by The Harvey Land company.

Six hundred and seventy-five acres, 6,312 lots, at $300 each less $50,000 short on the 275 acres, is, net, $1,843,600 on the 1,000 acres.

Three thousand acres on the same basis will net $5,500,000. It is safe to say this amount will run 50 per cent. more, or $8,250,000. There is upon this land gravel, moulding and building sand and brick clay and pure spring water in inexhaustible quantities.

The railroads stand ready to put in all requisite switches and to build union depot at the intersection of these roads. Some switches now in.

STATE OF SIEGE RAISED.

London, Feb. 22.—A dispatch to the Times from Mendoza, Argentine Republic, says that the elections have passed off peacefully, that the state of siege has been raised, and that all danger of a revolt appears to have passed.

RESULT OF STORMS.

Constantinople, Feb. 22.—There has been no railway communication with western Europe since last Thursday, owing to heavy inundations which have swept away the tracks and bridges in many places.

RETURNED TO WORK.

New York, Feb. 22.—The trouble between Meyer, Jonasson & Co. and their employes was settled this morning, and all the strikers will return to work to-morrow. An agreement was signed satisfactory to all concerned.

LOVE'S PLEASURE HOUSE.

Love built for himself a Pleasure House—
A Pleasure House fair to see—
The roof was gold, and the walls thereof
Were delicate ivory.

Violent crystal the windows were,
All gleaming and fair to see—
Pillars of rose-stained marble upbore
The house where men longed to be.

Violet, gold, and white and rose,
The Pleasure House fair to see
Did show to all, and they gave Love thanks
For work of such mastery.

Love turned away from his Pleasure House
And stood by the salt, deep sea—
He looked therein, and he flung therein
Of his treasure the only key.

Now never a man till time be done
That Pleasure House fair to see
Shall fill with music and merriment
Or praise it on bended knee.

The mortality from measles in England is said to exceed anything that can thus far be attributed to the influenza. There are 13,000 deaths from measles annually in England and Wales.

The people of Great Britain consume about five times as much tea per head as do the inhabitants of this country, and the consumption there is steadily increasing every year.

England's last and best warship, the Blenheim, has boilers as leaky as all or most of the others. There is probably hardly a ship in the British navy with boilers really fit for use.

Farmers near Leeds, N. D., are complaining of the depredations of a herd of antelope that is destroying great quantities of the unthreshed grain, flax seeming to be the favorite food.

A new parasite has been discovered which infects paper money, and is found nowhere else. It is invisible to the unassisted eye, does not attach itself to persons, but multiplies at a rapid rate.

It is figured out that if the entire population of the world, comprising 1,400,000,000 people, were divided into families of five, Texas could furnish each family with a half-acre lot and have plenty of land to spare.

Twenty-two acres of land are needed to sustain a man on flesh meat, while the same amount of land under wheat feeds 42 people; under oats 88 people; under potatoes, Indian corn and rice, 176 people, and under the plaintain or bread fruit tree 6,000 people.

A French journalist says that in Paris no fewer than 4,000 women are caught every year stealing before the counter. The number of titled ladies seized with kleptomania while examining the fashions is almost incredible.

An ancient copper mine, which was first worked 1,183 years ago, is about to be re-opened in Musashi, Japan. Old Japanese manuscripts of undoubted authenticity mention this mine. Its galleries and levels are, in some cases, just as they were 700 years ago.

An inventive youth connected with a Missouri hardware store is said to have discovered a compound which, if applied to tinware, brass, etc., of wares exposed for sale, will keep the flies off the same during the summer. He expects to make a small fortune out of the discovery.

There used to be a giant species of tortoise in Mauritius. Van Neck, the discoverer of the dodo, found some there which were so large that six men could be seated in a single shell. Another authority states that 2,000 or 3,000 of them were sometimes seen in one drove.

Four hundred hairs of average thickness would cover an inch of surface. The blonde belle has about 140,000 filaments to comb and brush, while the red-headed beauty has to be satisfied with 88,000, the brown-haired damsel may have 109,000, the black-haired but 102,000.

If a well could be dug to the depth of forty-six miles the density if the air at the bottom would be as great as that of quicksilver. By the same law a cubic inch of air taken 4,000 miles above the earth's surface would expand sufficiently to fill a space 2,000,000,000 miles in diameter.

The most extraordinary precautions are taken in Spain to provide for the safety of the sovereign at night. It now turns out that the Atlantic and not the Pacific is the higher of the two oceans, and that in place of the difference in level being hundreds of feet, as has been affirmed, the surface of the water on the east side of the isthmus is exactly six and one-half feet higher than it is on the western side.

The last annual report of the manager of the city gas works in Bilbao, Spain, shows a profit of nearly $50,000 upon capital amounting to only $175,000 invested in plant. The average net cost of gas during the year was about thirty cents per 1,000 cubic feet and the average selling price was 92 cents.

A man weighs less when the barometer is high, notwithstanding the fact that the atmosphere pressure on him is more than when the barometer is low. As the pressure of air on an ordinary-sized man is about fifteen tons, the rise of the mercury from 29 to 31 inches adds about one ton to the load he has to carry.

Engineers of railroad trains in Texas and most of the western states carry revolvers, and often rifles, in the cab, for various contingencies that might arise. They amuse themselves by shooting at the telegraph poles or any other mark while running at full speed, and attain a wonderful skill in markmanship. A few days ago an engineer on the Denver & Rio Grande railway shot and killed a wildcat near Newcastle from the cab of his locomotive.

A party of hunters in Colorado killed three mountain lions recently in a new, improved and comparatively safe way. Their dogs drove the lions under a ledge of rock and kept them there while the hunters dug down into the cave from above. When they had an opening to where the lions were a rifle was pushed through. The muzzle was gripped savagely in the jaws of one of the lions and the gun was discharged. The other two lions grabbed the rifle in turn as it was withdrawn and poked in again, and each was killed by bullets through the head.

ENTERTAINMENTS.

"Fairies' Well" at the People's This Week.

E. S. Willard in "The Middleman" To-Morrow Night—The Theatrical Mechanics' Benefit—The Kendals.

W. H. Power's company in The Fairies' Well, is the attraction at the People's this week. The company recently played an extended engagement in New York city, and, of the piece, the New York Star says, the audience was large and extremely appreciative and there were a number of recalls when there was clever singing and dancing.

The story of the play involves a pair of romances, with various interrupting elements. Larry Dee is a clever young Irish jockey in love with Mona Carmody. Mark Condon is a villain, also in love with the pretty Irish girl. Dan Carmody, Mona's uncle, is ambitious to marry Mona to Condon. The main object of Carmody's existence, however, is to revenge himself upon the last representative of the family of his former master, Beresford, who turned him out of his service upon suspicion of theft. He has secured a mortgage upon the Beresford estate, and proposes to turn Eunice Beresford out the moment the mortgage falls due.

Tracy Farrell is in love with Eunice Beresford, who once refused an offer of marriage from Condon. Condon and Carmody therefore work together in a conspiracy against Miss Beresford. Jonah Kelly arrives from America with news of the death of Beresford, and with a large sum of money for Eunice.

There is a duel, in which Larry takes a hand, and there are plenty other sensational, as well as comical, incidents.

A Bad Man.

During that portion of Edward S. Willard's London career which was given up to the playing of villain parts, he was much pointed out by 'bus men, cab drivers and others as a very cold-blooded person indeed. These fellows felt that a man who was such a perfect villain on the stage must be "a bad 'un" at heart, and they hinted dark things about it and pretended to feel rather unsafe when he appeared near. The role that brought him the most fame in this line was that of the "Spider" in "The Silver King," and before that piece was half through its run Mr. Willard was known by everybody as the "The Spider."

One night he had taken the 'bus as usual from his home to the theater, and, as usual, sat and chatted with the driver. When the conductor came after his fare Mr. Willard handed a coin over his shoulder. The change was put into his hand and, simply by feeling it, Mr. Willard detected a shortage.

"Sixpence more, please," he said, without looking around.

"I think that's right, sir," said the conductor.

"Sixpence more, please," said Mr. Willard sweetly.

The conductor counted the change, apologized and added the required sixpence. When Mr. Willard got down at the end of the line, he heard the driver say to the conductor, with infinite disgust:

"Wot a blooming mug you must be to try that on 'im. Don't you know who that is? Why, that's 'the Spider.' That's who 'e is."

Mr. Willard and company will present the Middleman at Wheeler's to-morrow evening.

Tribute to Mrs. Kendal.

"Speaking of Mrs. Kendal as she is seen upon the stage," says a dramatic writer, "she may be described as a woman of grand physique. She is superb in her poses, graceful in action, and withal so thorough an artist that pose, grace, action and all brought to the aid of the natural, not the real sacrifice for the ideal, nor art made to serve the affectation of art, but rather for its concealment. She is beyond comparison the best of many foreign actresses recently brought to us, and we know of no woman upon the American stage to-day—admitting the ability of our select few—who could not find much profit in a close study of her acting."

Mechanics Benefit.

The annual benefit of the Theatrical Mechanics association was given at Wheeler's last evening to an audience that crowded every corner. The entertainment was an excellent one and the association is to be congratulated on its deserved success.

The program consisted of specialties by a number of local people and also by several members of the Fairies Well company, and the different numbers received liberal applause.

One of the events of the performance was the debut of Miss Cynthie Rogers, a bright little lady of this city, who has been studying out of the city who has She promises to make her mark before the footlights.

AN UNINTERESTING WEEK.

Not Much Will Be Done in Congress.

It Will Be Wednesday Before the Members Get Back to Their Desks.

Washington, Feb. 22.—The present week in congress is likely to be uneventful. Although both houses will reassemble Tuesday it is improbable that a quorum of congress will be present until the following day.

The Clagett-Dubois contested election case will come up in the senate as the unfinished business and may consume several days in its discussion.

The Paddock pure food bill is set down as the next subject for consideration, and a prolonged debate upon the merits of the measure is inevitable. These matters will probably occupy the attention of the senate during the legislative week with the possible addition of some interesting proceedings in executive session in connection with pending nominations.

When the house reassembles Tuesday, according to an understanding heretofore reached, it will begin consideration of its first election case, namely, that of Craig v. Stewart, from Pennsylvania. Two of the republican members of the committee on elections have joined with the democratic majority of the committee in recommending that Stewart (a republican) be ousted, and that Craig, the democratic contestant, be seated. Chairman O'Ferrell says that the case should be decided by the house in one day, but it is possible that the contest will last two days.

The Indian appropriation bill is the unfinished business before the house. Considerable progress was made in its consideration during the two days of the past week, when it was under discussion, and it is thought that another day will be sufficient for bringing it to passage by the house.

The Indian appropriation bill will militate against private bills, which are entitled to engross the whole of Frday when there is not some matter of privilege or great importance before the house. Saturday is what may be termed an "open day," in the popular branch of congress, nothing being set down for that day.

A democratic caucus is a part of the program for the week, and it is expected that in this caucus the party policy for the remainder of the session on the tariff and silver questions will be discussed with vigor and earnestness.

DIDN'T UNDERSTAND.

In the days of the old schoolship Massachusetts a Sunday visitor once addressed the sailor boys on board in what he probably thought was an effective manner. The next day in the school the question was asked, "What did you learn from the remarks of Mr. X. yesterday?" To the surprise of the teacher one boy gave this answer: "I learned that he was talking about two things he did not seem to understand, sir—navigation and religion, sir."—Boston Advertiser.

HOW WITCHES WERE CONVICTED.

The Ideas of Justice Prevailing in the Good Old Days.

"One of the theories of the age was that the Devil set his mark upon each of his servants that witches were all marked," says Winfield S. Nevins in the February New England Magazine. "A jury of the sex of the accused was appointed to examine the body for such marks. It often happened that some excresence of flesh common to old people, or one explainable by natural causes, was found. One such was found on the body of Goody Nurse, and reported to the court, all but one of the jury agreeing to the report. Rebecca Preston and Mary Tarbell knew that the mark was from natural causes. The prisoner stated to the court that the dssenting woman of the jury of examination was one of the most ancient, skilful and prudent, and further declared, 'I there rendered a sufficient known reason of the moving cause thereof.' She asked for the appointment of another jury to inquire into the case and examine the marks found on her person. The jury of trials returned a verdict of not guilty. Thereupon all the accusers in the court 'cried out' with renewed vigor and were taken in the most violent fits, rolling and tumbling about, creating a scene of the wildest confusion. The judges told the jurymen that they had not carefully considered one expression of the prisoner, namely, that when one Hobbs, a confessing witch, was brought in as evidence against her she said: 'What, do you bring her? She is one of us.' The jury retired for further consultation. Even then they could not agree upon a verdict of guilty. They returned to the court room and desired that the accused explain the remark. She made no rseponse, and the jury returned a verdict of guilty."

ST. PATRICK'S DAY.

Preparations in Progress to Properly Celebrate.

Meeting at Friendship Hall Yesterday Afternoon—Committees Appointed—Some of the Societies Which Will Participate.

Yesterday afternoon the representatives of the various Irish Catholic societies of the city met in Friendship hall for the purpose of arranging for a parade and celebration on St. Patrick's day.

Mr. John Grady called the meeting to order, and after briefly stating the object of the meeting he was elected chairman of the meeting and Mr. James Degnan secretary. On motion it was decided to hold the customary parade on March 17.

In response to a roll call of parishes and societies the representatives of the following notified the meeting of their intention to participate:

St. Patrick's parish.
Juvenile Temperance society.
St. Patrick's Athletic and Dramatic society.
Immaculate Conception parish.
Good Shepherd parish.
Ancient Order of Hibernians, divisions 1, 2 and 3.
Young Men's Catholic Benevolent society.
Catholic Knights of America, various branches.
Catholic Knights of Ohio, branches 9 and 10.

The following committees were appointed:

On invitation—T. P. Degnan, J. J. Whelan and J. M. Gorman.

On line of march, etc.—Ed McCarty, Dan O'Brien and T. P. Degnan.

On music and carriages—Messrs. Gorman, Degnan, O'Brien, Phelan, Liddy, Gavin, Bolan, Bartley, Furnier, Flood, McCarty and Hanlon.

The election of a grand marshal was discussed, but laid over until next meeting, which will be held at the same place next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

It looks as if the demonstration will be an unusually large one. The C. K. of O. proposes turning out in full force, and the Y. M. C. B. A. will also turn out in a body.

BOUGHT A GASSER.

The Gas Trustees Take a Snap Shot at Kelly.

The Investigating Committee Decide to Postpone the Visit to the Field—After More Territory.

The natural gas trustees have purchased the Kelly gas well, located in Van Buren, and described in the Bee a few days ago. It has a capacity of about 1,600,000 feet and a rock pressure of 120 pounds.

The consideration was $300 a month until $2,000 is paid, the city to have the right to close it down and turn it over at any time.

Ware & Kelly are the owners of the high pressure territory three or four miles east of Van Buren and the trustees are now negotiating for its purchase. There is but little money in the treasury, and it is not likely that anything will be done about it until the investigating committee reports.

The committee, by the way, did not go to the field this morning. Yesterday, after a consultation by 'phone, it was decided to postpone the visit until next Thursday morning, when the full committee is expected to be on hand.

The pressure on the East Side was away up this morning, and to-day and yesterday the supply has been good. The warm weather and new wells account for the change.

WATER PIPES NEED NOT FREEZE.

A simple expedient for the prevention of the bursting of water pipes by frost has been invented by a Londoner. He inserts within the pipe suitable lengths of a sufficiently elastic material, such as cork, protected by a thin covering of metal or canvass. This material may be round, flat or semi-circular in section, and it is to be kept in place by light projecting arms. The so-called "preventer" is supposed to be compressed under the pressure of the expanding, frozen fluid and thus to relieve the pipes. The inventor says that the preventor is of such dimensions as not to materialy diminish the water supply.

AUSTIN BIDWELL IS BACK

The Noted Forger Released From Prison.

One of the Parties Who Forged Notes on the Bank of England for One Million Pounds.

New York, Feb. 22.—Austin Byron Bidwell, one of the clever gang of Bank of England forgers, arrived on the Etruria yesterday.

He was released from Chatham prison a week ago. He is accompanied on his homeward voyage by his sister, Mrs. Mott, who has been many months in England seeking his release.

His brother, George Bidwell, got a ticket of leave on July 18, 1887, and arrived in this country on August 9 following.

The crime of which the two Bidwells and their confederates, George McDonald and Edward Noyes, were convicted, was perpetrated in 1872 and 1873. These four men forged notes and bills of exchange on the bank of England amounting to £1,000,000.

George Bidwell was arrested in Scotland, Austin Bidwell in Havana, Noyes in London and McDonald on board a steamship at quarantine here.

They were sentenced to life imprisonment. Ever since the release of George Bidwell efforts have been made to secure the discharge of Austin, the younger brother, who has passed nearly 18 years in prison.

It has been the subject of international and diplomatic correspondence. George Bidwell enlisted many people in this country in his brother's behalf, and through petitions signed by Lady Somerset and other philanthropists in England his release was agreed to, provided he would leave England.

The noted forger was escorted to Liverpool by a Scotland Yard detective and put on board the Etruria by him. Austin Bidwell was only 25 years old when convicted, was a tall, handsome man, and had but lately married an estimable woman at the United States legation in Paris.

He made a daring escape from prison in Havana, where he was confined, but he was caught the following May.

In January, 1891, while a prisoner at Chatham, he risked his life to save another prisoner, who fell into the Medway. McDonald is still in Portland prison and Noyes is still at Portsmouth.

Several new coal mines will be opened near Salem.

INDIAN DAYS AND TROUBLES

Organization and Purpose of the Ohio Land Company.

The Nucleus of Marietta – The Northern Territory–Founding and Early History of Cincinnati – Fort Washington.

(By Dr H. Scott.)

A company known and designated as the Ohio Land company was formed mostly in Boston in the year 1787, with the intention and purpose of securing and locating a large body of land in the territory lying northwest of the Ohio river. The company consisted of officers and soldiers of the revolution, who by act of congress were entitled to land grants.

On the 27th of November of that year, the company closed a stipulation with congress for the right of 1,500,000 acres, and soon after an association of 46 men, under Gen. Rufus Putnam, set out to take possession of the grant, and arrived at the mouth of the Muskingum river on the 7th of April following. Immediately upon arriving at that point they proceeded to clear off the ground and pitch their tent on the bank of the Ohio, east of the Muskingum, thus forming the nucleus of what is now the city of Marietta.

In the year following, 1788, congress passed an act establishing the territorial government of the Northwestern Territory, and appointed Arthur St. Clair as its first governor. Judges of the supreme court were likewise appointed, who, with Gov. St. Clair, arrived at Marietta about the 1st of June; and in September the first court for Ohio was held.

To provide for a better understanding of the nature of the title to these northwestern lands, it is necessary to go back a little in the order of time. As early as the year 1782 Gen. Clark advanced into the new territory with a large force of fighting men, and after burning several Indian towns, including Old and New Pickaway, he succeeded, after some delay, in effecting a treaty with the Indians, in which they ceded to the United States all the country on the Muskingum, Scioto, and Big and Little Miamis. In this, as in many prior treaties, is shown the groundwork of succeeding treaties and their violations, and all the assumed and real bad faith of the Indians, together with attending horrors and massacres.

It was deemed essential to burn the Indian towns, and to drive them before the muzzles of guns farther back into the wilderness, in order to secure from them a treaty, to which they consented because they could not help themselves, and they were forced to fall back from their favorite hunting grounds and their old homes.

Among the first acts of Gov. St. Clair was the sending deputations to several tribes residing within what is now the state of Ohio, inviting them to treaty. The special purpose of the proposed treaty was declared to be the establishment of friendly relations between the white race and the aborigines. Subsequent history shows how well these treaties have been kept.

Cincinnati.

I believe it was in the year 1787 that the original Cincinnati was laid out by the proprietors, whose names were Filson, Denman, Ludlow and Patterson. It was said that the courses of the streets were marked by blazes on the trees. To Filson is credited the honor of improvising the first name of the place. He called it L-os-ant-ville; L., the Licking river; os, bone; with the French termination ville. The name thus compounded was Losantiville. In January, 1790, Gov. St. Clair, in company with the judges of the supreme court, arrived there and organized the first court in the Miami valley; and at the same time changed the name of the place to Cincinnati.

The population of Losantiville at this time (1790) consisted of 11 families and 24 unmarried men, together with the officers and soldiers of the garrison. About twenty log cabins were built, chiefly on the margin of the river. The principal part of the trees on the first bottom, between the present Walnut and Broad streets, were cut down, but were not entirely removed for several years.

In 1795 the town contained 94 cabins, 10 frame houses, and about 500 inhabitants. In 1800 the population was estimated at 750; and five years later it amounted to no more than 960.

Fort Washington was established by Major Daughty, probably in 1789; and its site was 15 acres, lying east of Broadway, bordering on the Ohio river, and extending back as far as the high lands. Major Daughty first arrived there in June, with 140 men, and erected four block houses nearly opposite the mouth of the Licking river.

Cincinnati was a military post, and a headquarters for many of the first years of its existence, and was greatly annoyed by hostile Indians. Parties sent out to drive them away, or to punish them, often suffered greatly from the superior numbers and strategy of the skulkers. Great numbers of the first settlers along the Miamis and in the vicinity of Cincinnati, as well as of those who went out to fight the savages, were murdered by them, notwithstanding the efforts to make and keep peace.

In 1810 Cincinnati had a population of 2,300, estimated; and the following is the accurate census for 1818: Males, 21 years and upwards, 2,364; females, 1,632; males, 12 to 21 years, 840; females, 12 to 21 years, 823; males under 12 years, 1,549; females under 12 years, 1,545; persons of color, 367; total population for 1818, 9,120.

The following will show a profile of the city for 1819: There were at that time within the corporation 1,819 buildings, as follows:

Of brick and stone, two stories and upwards, 387; of brick and stone, one story, 45; of wood, two stories and upwards, 615; of wood, one story, 843.

Occupied as dwellings, 1,003; mercantile stores, 95; groceries, 102; drug stores, 11; confectioneries, 4; auction and commission stores, 5; printing offices, 5; places of public worship, 10; books and stationers, 4; banks, 5; shops, factories and mills, 214; taverns, 17; seminary, court house and jail, 3; warehouses and other buildings, 412.

At that time there was one college in the city, known as the Cincinnati college. The institution was incorporated by the legislature with a charter very liberal in its provisions.

In the summer of 1818, Drs. Drake, Coleman and Rogers, and Mr. Eli Slack, published that they would deliver, during the fall months, three courses of medical lectures, which resulted in such success, that in January following Dr. Drake visited the legislature, then in session, and obtained a law of incorporation for the "Medical College of Ohio."

The Western museum was established in 1818, as a joint stock company, in which the price of shares was $15. There were two objects contemplated by the association, viz.: first, the collection and arrangement scientifically of relics and curiosities; and secondly, the establishment of a grand library. I do not know whether the association was incorporated. The museum passed through several phases of existence, and finally went out of existence.

The religious societies established in Cincinnati, and having houses for public worship, previous to 1819, were: Methodists, Presbyterians, Baptists, Quakers, Episcopalians, German Reforms, New Jerusalems, Roman Catholics and New-lights.

The Miami Bible society was instituted in 1814, of which O. M. Spencer was president; J. C. Wilson secretary, and William Bush treasurer. There were ten directors.

The Female Auxiliary Bible society was instituted in 1816, with a membership of 120. Its officers were, Mrs. H. Kinney, president; Mrs. C. C. L. Bush, secretary; and Mrs. C. H. Davis, treasurer.

The Dorcas society was established in 1817, Mrs. H. Kinney first directress; Mrs. S. R. Strong secretary, and Mrs. Zeigler, treasurer. The object of the society was to afford relief to the poor, in want and sickness.

Female association for the benefit of Africans, formed in 1817, for the purpose of bestowing on Africans religious instructions and the rudiments of learning. Mrs. H. Kinney, president; Mrs. McNight, secretary, and Mrs. Pierson treasurer.

Also, a female society for charitable and religious purposes; Mrs. M. Wilson, president; Mrs. Wheeler, secretary; Mrs. S. Yeoman, treasurer.

A tract society was formed in 1817. Joshua Wilson president; Thomas L. Payne, secretary; John Smith, treasurer.

There were also at the time five Sabbath schools in operation in the city, under the patronage of the respective churches. There were likewise a number of mutual aid and relief societies. In addition to the above, there were benevolent and charitable associations for various purposes.

There were in operation in Cincinnati in 1819, the following banks: Miami Exporting company, incorporated in 1803, with a capital stock of $500,000; Farmers' and Mechanics' bank, incorporated in 1812, capital stock, $500,000; Bank of Cincinnati, capital stock, $600,000; incorporated in 1816. A branch of the United States bank was also established in the city in 1817. I. H. Pratt & Co. commenced banking in 1817; and the Cincinnati Insurance company was incorporated in 1819, and did a general banking business.

The arrival of the first steamboat at the public landing of Cincinnati was as early as 1812 or 1813. In 1819 there were 60 on the river, of various burdens, varying from 25 to 700 tons. Many of these voyaged as far as New Orleans.

We have here been looking back at Cincinnati across a gap of more than 70 years. All that we have been contemplating, including every one of the people—all have disappeared. Oldest citizens of the "Queen city," now living, remember nothing of the Cincinnati of its first 20 years—all has passed into the accumulating debris of the ages. The early records are few, and difficult to find. The present has too much else to think about.

A GOOD WORD FOR TAMMANY.

The city of New York to-day contains a political organization which, in respect of age, skilful management, unity of purpose, devotion to correct principles, public usefulness, and, finally, success, has no superior, and, in my opinion, no equal, in political affairs the world over. I mean the Tammany democracy. I do not propose to defend the Tammany organization; neither do I propose to defend sunrise as an exhibition of celestial mechanics, nor a democratic form of government as an illustration of human liberty at its best. In the campaign of 1891 almost the only argument used by the republicans against the democrats was the assertion that Flower was the candidate of a corrupt political club, and that the club was named Tammany. Tammany was accused of every vice and crime known to republican orators; it was the fountain head of corruption; it was because of it that every farmer throughout the state could not at once pay off his mortgages; it took forty millions annually from the citizens of New York and gave them nothing in exchange for it. To the credit of the democrats let us note the fact that, while this torrent of abuse was being poured upon the heads of voters, Democrats did as the inhabitants of Spain are said to do when the clouds are open—"they let it rain." Nobody apologized for the misdeeds of the alleged malefactor; the democrats went before the people on legitimate issues, and the result of the affair was expressed in the figures, 47,937 majority. I doubt if the democracy would have fared anything like as well if they had defended or apologized or explained away. "He who excuses himself accuses himself" is a time-worn proverb. They let Mr. Fassett shout himself hoarse over 'Tammany corruption," and then won the victory.—From "Tammany Hall and the Democracy," by Richard Croker, in North American Review for February.

THE GREENLEAF AMENDMENT.

Col. Greenleaf, of Rochester, N. Y., the democratic member of congress from his district, has offered a constitutional amendment in the Fifty-second congress providing for woman suffrage, by giving women the right to vote at Federal elections. He believes that the emancipation of women is the culminating point in the process of natural law that will open up all the avenues which lead to the brotherhood of man. Col. Greenleaf achieved a reputation as a brave soldier during the late war. His wife is president of the Rochester, N. Y., Women's Political club, and was a prominent speaker among the committee who addressed the joint session of the United States senate upon woman suffrage at the National Suffrage convention last month. Both Col. and Mrs. Greenleaf are talented and wealthy citizens of Rochester, N. Y.

CALLED HIM A FOOL.

The Marquis of Lorne, in the preface to his "Viscount Palmerston, K. G.," just published by Sampson Low, recalls a characteristic story of the Duke of Wellington: A worshiper, seeing the old duke about to cross alone the crowded street from the Green Park to Apsley house, begged to be allowed to escort him. After the worshiper had walked with the duke across to the pavement near the duke's house, the gentleman who had thus volunteered his company took off his hat to the field marshal and with a low bow expressed his deep sense of the high honor that had been permitted to him, etc., on which the old duke, standing on the pavement, turned his eagle nose and blue eyes on him and said only, "Don't be such a damned fool, sir."

HIS BABY DIED.

Early Monday morning a timid knock was heard at the big, heavy door of the Fulton county jail.

Jailer Miller opened the door, and a strong rugged man came in.

There was a haggard look of sadness on the poor fellow's face.

It was Jim Wesson, the moonshiner who escaped from the Fulton county jail a week ago to go home to see his sick baby.

"I'm sorry, Mr. Miller," the poor fellow said in a broken voice, "I hope you and Cap'n. Morrow don't care, but I heard the baby—"

He brushed a tear away, and stopped a moment until his lips quit quivering so, and went on:

"I heard the baby was sick, and I thought about wife watchin' of it at home, and I just had to go. I was sorry, an' I wrote you I'd come back. An' I done it. They done buried the baby an' I come back, an' I hope you ain't mad."

Captain Miller did not—he could not utter a word of reproach to the heart-broken fellow. There was a touch of human nature about it, that made the big, strong jailer feel more like weeping than scolding.

"I'm glad you have come back, Jim," said he.—Atlanta Constitution.

RIGHT OR WRONG.

Which will ye have? It does seem as if some folks prefer to have the last condition of the liver rather than the first. They perpetually dose themselves with purgatives totally without virtue as alterative of liver trouble. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the successful candidate for the people's choice, and yet, popular and well known as it is, there are unfortunates who keep on trying the drastic remedies of former days. It is to the intelligent portion of the public that the well known and long tried properties of the Bitters appeal. Reason should be guided by experience in the matter of medication. "The best guide to our feet is the lamp of experience," said a great patriot of the early revolutionary period, and the exclamation is pregnant with truth. For over a third of a century the Bitters daily has met with the endorsement of people suffering from liver complaint, malaria, constipation, rheumatism, debility and troubles accompanied by dyspepsia. Latterly it has declared itself and been thoroughly approved as a remedy for "la grippe."

ROSALIND UP TO DATE.

Without, Independent and Business Like; Within, Very Womanly.

I met him on the elevated the other day and he seemed depressed and out of spirits.

"What's the matter?" asked I.

He flushed in a conscious way, and said: "Oh, nothing." Then in the next breath he added, "Yes there is, too, and I'm going to confide in you. You impress me as the sort of woman a man could confide in."

I have always flattered myself that there is something in my face that inspires confidence. I was pleased to see that this expression was generally recognized.

"I'm in love," he continued, "desperately in love, and I feel sure it is a hopeless case. I don't mind mentioning her name to you. Indeed, any man might feel proud of himself to think he was in love with her. It's Miss Z. That's why it's so hopeless. You know what Miss Z's position is. So do I. I know she is a clever, capable, competent business woman. She fights her own battles with the world, and asks no odds of anybody. She is highly respected by her employers, who recognize her true worth and her value to them. She needs no help, no protection from anyone. I don't dare to propose to her on this account. Why, she'd just laugh at me for my pains. She would would want to know of what earthly use I could be to her.

"I came pretty near doing it once. I saw her at the opera one night, and she looked so girlish and dependent in her white frock, with her hair curled in childish rings about her face, that I made up my mind she did need a protector and that I would propose next day.

"Well, the next day came, and I happened to meet her in the morning on her way down town. It was raining. She had on a very mannish double-breasted, long-caped mackintosh, a pair of stout boots, a storm-hat, and a very aggressive umbrella tucked under her arm. There were no babyish curls that day. Her hair was braided tightly all about her head, and looked as business-like as possible. My courage failed me. I said to myself that it was all nonsense. That trim, alert, capable young person didn't need me, or any other man to look after her. And so I didn't propose. That's all," he wound up gloomily.

It happened that the very next afternoon Miss Z. dropped in for a little chat and a cup of tea. I told her the story because it was too good to keep. She laughed a bit, and then she sighed.

"Yes," she said, "I dare say I give people that impression. I intend to, at least. I resolved when I first went out into the world to scramble for myself; that I would never ask any indulgence from any one on account of my sex. I would put on a brave front, anyway. Like Rosalind, I'd have a martial outside, though in my heart the woman's fear did lie hidden. Well, your story shows that I have succeeded. And yet I am a woman still at heart.

"I don't like to do things for myself. I'd rather be waited upon, cared for, watched over by some great, big, delightful man. I often look at other women with their husbands and sweethearts, and sigh to remember I have none. You wouldn't have believe it? No, I dare say not. And probably poor young X. would not believe it now. But it is true; true of me and of every woman. No matter how brave and capable we may seem, we are all cowards at heart. We like a man to fight the world for us."

And when I looked at her there were two tears slowly rolling down her face.—New York Recorder.

Great Britain's army, according to the recently published report, is 209,221 strong. There are 7,527 officers, and 200,865 noncommissioned officers and privates. The cavalry numbers 18,846; the artillery, 35,379; the infantry train, ambulance corps, etc., 147,788. In England there are stationed 105,668; in Scotland, 3,949; in Ireland, 26,566; in India, 72,698; in Egypt and the colonies, 30,855. In the last 20 years the strength of the British army has varied considerably. In 1871 it was 192,665; in 1876, 184,433; in 1883, 181,975; in 1888, 211,105. The infantry has 70 regiments and one chasseur brigade containing together 148 battalions; the cavalry, 31 regiments; the artillery, 110 batteries, as well as 72 companies of fortress artillery; the engineer corps, 45 companies, as well as 9 depot companies, 1 platoon battalion, 2 telegraph divisions, and 1 balloon division; the train 37 companies.

Notice to Contractors.

Ostrich Lane.

Sealed proposals will be received by the undersigned, up to 12 o'clock at noon of Monday,

THE 7TH DAY OF MARCH, 1892,

for improving Ostrich Lane from the paving in Mulberry street to the paving in Magnolia street by paving the central fifteen (15) feet thereof with Vitrified fire brick, together with the necessary grading, curbing, crosswalks, drainage, etc.

That the contractor or contractors who shall do the work herein provided for shall be paid in cash within ninety days after completion of the work and acceptance thereof by the city.

All bids must be written with ink and the price of each item shall be written out in full as well as in figures. Each bid must contain the full name of every person interested in the same. All parties filing bids for the matter specified in this notice, must deposit with the city clerk on each bid the sum of one hundred dollars. All deposits to be in cash or certified check on a bank doing a regular banking business in the city of Toledo, and accompanied by an agreement signed by the bidder and two disinterested persons, guaranteeing that, if the bid is accepted, a contract will be entered into—otherwise the amount deposited to be forfeited to the city; and in case a contract is entered into, said deposit to remain until the first estimate of work done, (or double the amount of deposit,) is reported to the common council.

Bidders will be required to indorse their names on the outside of the envelope containing their proposal, and what the bid is for, the same to be filed with the city clerk. Bids not filed in accordance with the above requirements will be rejected.

FICTION NOT IN IT

With the Deeds of a New York Bandit.

The Lone Highwayman of the Far West

Must Acknowledge That He Has Been Out-Done.

A Train Robbery That Has Had No Equal.

A Safe Rifled, Messenger Shot, Escape Made on a Captured Locomotive, Only to be Caught in a Swamp After a Long Chase.

Rochester, N. Y., Feb. 22.—The shooting of an express messenger on a Central Hudson train, the rifling of a valuable safe, the flight of the robber on the engine of another train from which he drives the crew at the point of a revolver, a running fight from the engine cab for miles chased by another engine filled with railway men and the final capture of the desperado by the sheriff's posse in a swamp after a wild pursuit across the country, are some of the sensational features of the most desperate attempt at train robbery in the history of the Central Hudson railway, and which casts in the shade as an exhibition of coolness and nerve the famous exploits of the Jesse James band or other outlaws of western fame.

Train No. 31 on the Central Hudson is known as the American Express company's special. It runs every day in the year between New York and Buffalo, and carries only goods and property shipped by that company. The express company pay the Central Hudson many thousands of dollars yearly for the use of this train and it runs on the same time with the same privileges as the limited express.

The train leaves New York at 9 o'clock each evening and is due in this city at 7:05 in the morning. Nearly all the cars are run through to Chicago and contain the most valuable express matter. One car is known as the "money" car and in it is sent the specie from the United States treasury for western banks, as well as the money in process of exchange between the banks of New York and the west.

The load of wealth sent out from New York on this train is usually greater on Saturday evening than on any other days, and often amounts to more than a million dollars in jewelry and other valuables. One trusted messenger of the company, and sometimes several, are placed in charge of this car, and so great is the secrecy observed in regard to the car and contents that often the crew of the train do not know in which car the money is carried.

Daniel T. McInerny, of this city, was in charge of the money car on the trip Saturday night. The train was made up of eight express cars and one day coach for the accommodation of the regular train crew. Only one messenger was assigned to the money car, as the work of billing was light. The other cars had two messengers. The train left Syracuse at 5 o'clock Saturday morning in charge of Conductor Emil Laass of this city. The train was drawn by engine 692 with Caleb Cherry engineer. The coach was in the rear of the train and the money car just ahead.

When the train was near Weedsport the conductor, who was in the coach with his two trainmen, thought he heard the air whistle sound very faintly. It was enough to arouse him to the belief that something was wrong in the express car. Going out on the platform of the coach, he climbed on the rail and looking through the hole where the bell cord comes through he saw the upper part of a man whose face below the eyes was concealed by a red flannel mask. The messenger he could not see. He went back, set the air brakes and called his two trainmen. The three men stood leaning out from the platform looking forward along the sides of the express car. Suddenly a man's form appeared at the side door of the express car. Revolver bullets whistled past their ears and a voice was heard commanding them to signal the engineer to go ahead or take the consequences. The trainmen were unarmed. The conductor told one of the men to jump off, run back to Jordan and telegraph along the line to Rochester that they had a train robber on board. This was done and the conductor signalled the engineer to go ahead at full speed, thinking that the robber would not dare jump and would be captured at the next stop. The train went to Fort Byron. Here the brakes were set again and the conductor and the trainmen went to the express car.

The car showed signs of a desperate struggle. Money packages and jewelry were lying scattered about, everything in the car seemed stained with blood, and Messenger McInerny was lying bleeding from several wounds and almost unconscious. The robber was nowhere to be seen and was supposed to have jumped and made good his escape. McInerny wanted to be brought on to Rochester. A telegram for an ambulance was sent on to Rochester, and the train went on to Lyons, the next stop. The news spread all along the line by this time, and the station at Lyons was all alive. Among others in the crowd was a well dressed young man wearing gold eyeglasses, and carrying a satchel slung by a strap over his shoulder.

Now, it so happened that the trainmen had noticed this same young man at the station at Syracuse before the train pulled out, and they had not seen him since, and the question of what he was doing at Lyons and how he got there at once suggested itself. An attempt was made to seize him, and he pulled out two revolvers, held the crowd back and backed across the yard until he reached a coal train, the engine of which had steamed up ready to pull out for the west. He pulled the pin holding the tender to the first car, climbed over the coal into the cab, drove the engineer and fireman out with his revolvers, pulled open the throttle and started the engine.

Conductor Laass and one of the switchmen procured a shot gun, freed the engine of the express, and with the fireman and engineer started in pursuit of the fugitive.

It will be remembered that the Central Hudson is a four-tracked road, and the two engines, though both going west, were not on the same track. The express engine soon overtook the robber, who suddenly reversed his engine and let his pursuers pass him, pouring a perfect rain of pistol bullets into the cab as his pursuers went by. Then the pursuers stopped and the pursued went ahead. Another artillery duel ensued, the shotgun taking part this time. No one was hurt in either battle.

About two miles beyond the robber found his engine's steam giving out. So he jumped off at a cross road and started across country, going south. He managed to terrorize a farmer into letting him have a horse and rode on about two miles further south. Here he procured a horse and cutter, persuading their owner, a German farmer, to entrust him with them by firing on him.

The party on the express engine had returned to Lyons, where the sheriff of Wayne county, under the command of Deputy Sheriff Collins started in pursuit. Meantime the farmers along the robber's line of retreat had also turned out fully armed in pursuit. The runaway was sighted about five miles south of Newark. The roads are very bad and he had made poor speed. He abandoned his rig and ran across lots to Benton's swamp. But the swamp proved too full of water to be penetrated, and the fugitive took up his position behind a stone wall and faced his pursuers. After some parley he surrendered to Deputy Sheriff Collins. He was taken back to Lyons and lodged in jail.

He gave the name of William Cross, said he was from New Mexico and had been boarding in Syracuse for some time. He admitted that he was the man who had attempted the train robbery to Chief of Detectives Hayden, of this city, who had been wired for. He is believed to be the much-wanted Oliver Curtis Perry, who robbed Express Messenger Moore near Utica last fall.

The story of attempt at robbery as far as can be gathered is this:

The express messenger, be it understood, will not talk. Cross boarded the train when it pulled out of Syracuse and climbed on top of the express car. He was provided with a hooked rope. Fastening the hook in the slight cornice of the roof on one side of the car he let himself down on the other, and resting his toes on the ledge that runs across the car, he looked in the glass of the side door and saw the express messenger in front of one of the safes which was open, making up his bills. He smashed the glass with his revolver, covering the messenger and shouting to hold up his hands. Instead of doing so, McInerny reached for the signal cord with one hand and for his revolver with the other. A bullet smashed the hand on the cord, but not before it had given the signal that had aroused the conductor. Then McInerny fired on the robber and put a bullet through his coat. Then the robber shot the messenger twice, once in the right leg and once in the left temple. He climbed into the car and a desperate struggle took place which did not end until the train was stopped for the first time, near Weedsport. It is evident that the robber had climbed out on top of the cars and remained there through the stop at Port Byron until the train reached Lyons. So far as can be learned the robber secured absolutely nothing, for which the company can thank the readiness of Conductor Laass and the pluck of Messenger McInerny.

AN ELECTRIC HORSE,

So Charged with Magnetism As to Shock Every One that Touches It.

George E. Benton, who resides on Indiana avenue, discovered an electric horse this morning, says a Chicago writer in the Kansas City Times. Benton stepped from a street-car at Wabash and Eighteenth street while the horses were being trotted. He placed his hand on the flank of one of the animals, a bay mare and received a tremendous shock. The car was attached to a cable train and sped onward. After it had gone a block Benton returned and experienced a succession of slight shocks, which gradually died away as the mare became cooler from standing. Benton then had the mare trotted up and down the street for ten minutes. She came back in a foam and was taken at once to the damp ground. A dozen men then formed hands, first wetting the soles of their shoes thoroughly in the horse trough. As Benton put his hand on the mare every man distinctly felt the shock. "Now, one man let go at a time," shouted Benton, and they did so, the shock intensifying as each man fell out, so that at last when the number was reduced to three the next man cried out: "Some of you fellers catch ahold again; I can't stand this." Mr. Benton sent the mare trotting again, and meantime climbed a lamp-post. Another man climbed after him, and caught hold of his hand. He clasped the post firmly with his legs and gave his disengaged hand to a third man, who in turn placed his hand on the mare's flank. Benton turned on the gas jet and put his index finger on the nozzle of the jet. Instantly a series of sparks flashed through the living chain from the excited horse and the gas blazed up. Benton was so exhausted by this last experiment that he had to be taken down from the lamp-post. The manager of a dime museum has offered a large sum to the company for the privilege of exhibiting the horse.

SAFE AND EFFECTIVE.

Brandreth's Pills purify the blood, stimulate the liver, strengthen the kidneys, regulate the bowels. They were introduced in the United States in 1835. Since that time over sixty millions of boxes of Brandreth's Pills have been used.

This, together with thousands of convincing testimonials from all parts of the world, is positive evidence of their value.

Brandreth's Pills are purely vegetable, absolutely harmless, and safe to take at any time.

A BREEZY GIRL.

That the San Francisco girl can hold her own in point of looks and nimbleness of tongue is an established fact, says the News Letter. The following, which has floated back from New York through the medium of a letter, is one more convincing proof of the latter. The girl, well-known here, was visiting relatives, in whose family is a lady of uncertain years, who still lingers on the parental tree. Despite her years she claims the attention due younger women, and envy, hatred and malice filled her ancient breast when she was obliged to step back on the advent of the stranger from the far west. Various and many were the nipping speeches made at and to the girl of California, who accepted them all with a smile, until forbearance ceased to be a virtue. It was at a dinner party, and allusions being made to the height of the visitor, who possesses goodly inches, the spinster said, spitefully: "Oh, in California the girls grow up like weeds." "Yes," shot the answer from Miss San Francisco, "but they don't go to seed." There was an instant's silence, then every one shouted and the spinster crimsoned under her bang.

RIVALRY AT THE FAIR.

Each State Wants to Out-Do the Other.

Delegates From Four States Look Over the Ground and Select Their Location.

Chicago, Feb. 22.—Representatives of the Wisconsin, Indiana, Michigan and Ohio world's fair board met at the office of Chief of Construction Burnham Saturday and decided on the precise location of their state buildings.

These four states are grouped together on a triangular plat of ground near the western limit of Jackson park, just north of Fifty-ninth street. How to arrange these four state buildings so that each would have a commanding view of the fine art galleries and the pretty little lake near by has been one of the problems for the construction department.

Ohio and Indiana were sure of commanding views of the grounds, no matter how the other buildings were arranged, but not so with Wisconsin and Michigan.

All the sites were satisfactorily arranged, and the delegates from these four states announced that they would begin work on their buildings early in March. R. B. Kirkland represented the Wisconsin board; B. F. Hayens appeared for the Indiana board; I. M. Weston for Michigan and William Ritchie for the Buckeye state.

Plans for the buildings from each of these states have been approved by all the authorities. The buildings will be so placed on the sites that each will command a fine view of the art galleries, the picturesque lake and the buildings of a number of foreign nations. The Indiana building will cost about $100,000, of which amount $70,000 is to be donated by lumber associations. The Michigan building will represent an outlay of $40,000, most of which will be donated from private sources. The Wisconsin and Ohio buildings will cost about $50,000 each, and, as in the case of Michigan and Indiana, most of the building material will be donated.

William Ritchie, of Hamilton, O. who is a member of the national commission as well as an honorary member of the Ohio state board, said that the Buckeye state would send exhibits to the fair valued at from $5,000,000 to $6,000,000. "We have made a careful estimate, based on letters received from most of the large manufacturing concerns in the state," said Mr. Ritchie, "and this shows that at least $5,000,000 will be sent in the Ohio exhibit. Why, the city of Hamilton alone will spend $125,000 and probably more. Most of the exhibits from Ohio will go to the manufactures and machinery buildings, although the state will make a fine display in agriculture."

Edward Gregory, a Big Four engineer, was sand-bagged at Delaware and robbed of $105 and a gold watch.

Is he a bright child? Does he look healthy and happy? He is bright, and he is both healthy and happy. He is the little son of Mrs. Henry T. Bowers, wife of the well-known contractor and builder, who resides in Dorchester avenue, South Boston. Mrs. Bowers has had quite an experience with her children, which experience we give in her own words, as follows:

"I have a little boy two and one-half years of age, the perfect picture of rugged health, and also a little girl of four. I attribute their good health and good temper to the use of Dr. Hand's Remedies.

I have used, as occasion required, the entire line, and have had very marked results from the Colic Cure, Cough and Croup Medicine, and the Pleasant Physic. I have never had any but good result from the use of any of them."

MRS. GRAHAM'S

Cucumber and Elder Flower Cream

Is not a cosmetic in the sense in which that term is popularly used, but permanently beautifies. It creates a soft, smooth, clear, velvety skin, and by daily use gradually makes the complexion several shades whiter. It is a constant protection from the effects of sun and wind and prevents sunburn and freckles, and blackheads will never come while you use it. It cleanses the face far better than soap and water, nourishes and builds up the skin tissues and thus prevents the formation of wrinkles. It gives the freshness, clearness and smoothness of skin that you had when a little girl. Every lady, young or old, ought to use it, as it gives a more youthful appearance to any lady and that permanently. It contains no acid, powder or alkali, and is as harmless as dew and as nourishing to the skin as dew is to the flower. Price $1.00. Ask your druggist for it.

SAMPLE BOTTLE mailed free to any lady on receipt of 10 cents in stamps to pay for postage and packing. Lady Agents wanted.

SOUTHERN WOMEN.

The women of the south are yet in that transition stage which must come between earnest inquiry and interest, and the full acceptance of the new methods and opportunities for women. They are naturally anxious to know of their increased privileges, and to see the open doors, but there is no aggressiveness. On the contrary, the typical southern woman, though active and capable, always prefers to feel and to have the world believe that the men of the family are the leaders, fully able to take care of all affairs save those in the home. She may in truth work herself to death, and take all sorts of shifts and turns in private, but this is her creed, inherited from grandmothers' grandmothers of the long ago. She believes, as old Uncle Harvey on the plantation puts it, "De head ur de fambly ought ter allus hab some money in his pocket."

The progress of development in the woman's world therefore lies much in social lines—literary clubs, art clubs, afternoon teas, etc. No explosive questions are proposed; the trend of thought follows a mental current with no underflow of reform in any way; questions of art, of literature, of travel are all discussed at the delightful afternoon fortnightlies, held in the different parlors, with astonishing clearness. One might venture to say that the greatest readers and deepest students are usually found among women away from the centers. They get from reading what their sisters in the whirl gain by absorption.—Harper's Bazar.

It Would Seem

That at last a cure has been found for Bronchitis, Consumption, weak, sensitive or sore lungs. For these complaints innumerable remedies have been tried, but none heretofore have proved successful. YOUNG MEN—Who have become victims of solitary vice, that dreadful and destructive habit, which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of young men of exalted talent and brilliant intellect, may call with confidence.

DRS. FRANCE AND OTTMAN, after years of experience, have discovered the greatest cure known for weakness in the back and limbs, involuntary discharges, impotency, general debility, nervousness, languor, confusion of ideas, palpitation of the heart, timidity, trembling, dimness of sight, or giddiness, diseases of the head, throat, nose, or skin, affections of the liver, lungs, stomach, or bowels—those terrible disorders arising from the solitary vice of youth—and secret practices, blighting their most radiant hopes or anticipations, rendering marriage impossible. Take one candid thought before it is too late. A week or month may place your case beyond the reach of hope. Our method of treatment will speedily and permanently cure the most obstinate case, and absolutely restore perfect manhood.

TO MIDDLE-AGED MEN.—There are many from the age of 30 to 60 who are troubled with frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight burning or smarting sensation, weakening the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examination of the urinary deposits, a ropy sediment will be found, or the color will be a thin or milkish hue. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is a second stage of seminal weakness. We will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.—We have a special department, thoroughly organized, and devoted exclusively to the treatment of diseases of women. Every case consulting our specialists, whether by letter or in person, is given the most careful and considerate attention. Important cases (and we get few which have not baffled the skill of all the home physicians) have the benefit of a full council of skilled specialists. In treatment of diseases peculiar to females, our success has been marked, over two-thirds of our patients being ladies, old, young, married, single, rich and poor. Our method is entirely free from objectionable features of the general practitioner, namely, "Local treatment." We seldom find it necessary. We prepare remedies, constitutional and local, as the case demands, and instruct ladies how to treat themselves.

MARRIAGE.—Married persons, or young men contemplating marriage, aware of physical weakness, loss of procreative powers, impotency, or any other disqualification, speedily restored.

PRIVATE DISEASES.—Blood Poison, Venereal Taint, Gleet, Stricture, Seminal Emissions, Loss of Sexual Power, Weakness of Sexual Organs, Want of Desire in Male or Female, whether from imprudent habits of youth or sexual habits of mature years, or any cause that debilitates the sexual functions, speedily and permanently cured. Consultation free and strictly confidential. Absolute cures guaranteed. Medicines sent free from observation to all parts of the United States.

EPILEPSY, OR FITS—Positively cured by a new and never-failing method. Testimonials furnished.

FREE EXAMINATION OF THE URINE.—Each person applying for medical treatment should send or bring from 2 to 4 ounces of urine (that passed first in the morning preferred), which will receive a careful chemical and microscopical examination, and if requested a written analysis will be given.

Persons ruined in health by unlearned pretenders, who keep trifling with them month after month, giving poisonous and injurious compounds, should apply immediately. Delays are dangerous.

WONDERFUL CURES Perfected in old cases which have been neglected or unskillfully treated. No experiments or failures. Parties treated by mail or express, but where possible, personal consultation is preferred. Curable cases guaranteed. No risks incurred.

☞ Cases and correspondence confidential. Treatment sent C. O. D. to any part of U. S. List of 130 questions free. Address, with postage, DR. FRANCE, Nos. 38 and 40 W. Gay St., Columbus, O.

SPECIALTIES:

Female,
Lung,
Private and Chronic Diseases

CATARRH, so very common in this climate, is not a local disease as is generally supposed, but is constitutional, showing itself locally in some of the mucous membranes of the body, and to remove it permanently you have to remove the cause. In fact the only way of treating any disease is by removing the cause that produces it, and nature will do the rest. This is the manner in which we treat all diseases under our specialties and the secret of our success is in the ability to determine the starting point or cause of your trouble.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS OR LOSS OF MANHOOD, AND ERRORS OF YOUTH, POSITIVELY CURED.

PILES permanently cured without the use of a knife or any surgical operation whatever. POSITIVELY NO CASE TAKEN THAT CANNOT BE CURED.

Correspondence accompanied by 4 cents in stamps will be held with the strictest secrecy and will be promptly answered.

Consultation free. Private parlors for ladies.

MISCELLANEOUS.

COMMENCE THE NEW YEAR RIGHT—The Muskegon Improvement Co. is organized under the laws of Michigan for the purpose of raising funds to induce manufacturers to locate in their city.

The company purchased a tract of land, sub-divided it into lots, and sold to citizens of Muskegon in one day 2,800 lots at a uniform price of $130 per lot.

Some of these lots have been resold for $1,500, and many of them for from six to ten hundred dollars each.

Five hundred houses and twelve immense factories is the result of the sale, the profits being used to erect the factory buildings which were presented free to the present owners.

The same company now offer 1,800 lots at a uniform price of $165 each. Terms only $5 cash and $2 a week or $8 a month. The lots in the second sale are more worth three hundred dollars than those in the first sale were worth one hundred and thirty dollars, on account of said improvements.

The company issue a bond backed by a million dollars to duplicate in 1892 what was done in 1891.

Send your name and postoffice address and we will cheerfully mail you free, Plats, Maps, a beautiful Bird's Eye View of a city of thirty thousand, and such information as every intelligent person will appreciate.

If you do not become a purchaser you will find this information valuable and instructive. This is the once chance of your life. It doesn't cost anything to investigate. Write to Chas. M. Steele & Sons, Sole Agents, Muskegon, Mich.
